Fresh Planes in Search But Hope Diminishing

Lake Shores Scanned

By JOHN MIKA

Ground, air and water searches in the wild Nitinat Valley region 70 miles northwest of Victoria continued today without spotting a sign of missing Cecil Rawlings.

Three civilian float planes joined the search this morning to check the west coast and several small lakes and creeks emptying into the ocean.

Conflicting clues still had searchers wondering whether Rawlings survived the crash of the Seabee amphibian which killed his business partner Cecil Rhodes when the aircraft slammed into a forest-covered slope 1½ miles west of Lake Nitinat's northern tip May 29. The men were on a one-day fishing trip.

Helicopter Back

A boat today continued a search of the shores of Nitinat Lake that began Monday afternoon while an RCAF helicopter returned again and again to check the shore lines of nearby Hitchie and Hobiton Lakes.

A Piper Super Cub floatplane flown by Cassidair Services Ltd. pilot Gordon MacSwain joined the search from Nanaimo.

It carried logger Todd Palliser and Lake Cowichan coroner Dr. Edgar Gee on flights that covered Tsusiat Lake, Hitchie Creek, Squalicum Lake, Carmanah Creek and the Klanawa River in a search of all waterways over an approximate 50-square miles that Rawlings may have followed if alive.

Two other Piper float planes, a Victoria Flying Services aircraft, an RCMP Beaver and an RCAF Otter crisscrossed the search area this morning.

Troops in Search

A company of Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry soldiers from Work Point spread out along the Hobiton-Hitchie Lake area while another company searched the general area of the crash.

Focal point of the ground search was a windfall, about one-quarter of a mile away from the Seabee wreckage, where B.C. Forest Products forester Webb Binion found a camera that belonged to Rawlings.

Erroneous reports of the camera's location sent parties of soldiers on fruitless searches Monday up to four miles away from the wreckage in an effort to pick up more clues.

The searchers raced against time in an effort to find the missing Victorian in case he was still wandering around the rain-soaked tangle of underbrush.

Dr. Gee, modifying a previous statement that Rawlings could not have survived the crash, said:

"It's possible he is still alive, if he hasn't contracted pneumonia. It's not particularly cold in there—about 45 or 50 degrees—but he must have been dazed."

Dr. Gee reported that a

UNANSWERED QUESTIONS PLAGUE HUNT

Clues: Are They Fact or Fancy?

Although searchers are hoping against hope that Cecil Rawlings is still alive after the plane crash near Nitinat Lake, his disappearance from the crash scene has raised one of the great mysteries of the Island's history.

Still not answered are a number of questions which deepen the problem:

If he lived through the crash was he so dazed he did not realize his whereabouts and simply wandered off?

If not, would he have left the plane without leaving some sort of message or indication which way he intended to go?

If he was injured could he have travelled very far in the dense undergrowth?

If uninjured would he have left the scene without covering up the body of his partner and long-time chum? There was no indication any such attempt was made.

If he had a survival kit surely he would have been able to kindle some kind of fire, even though this would be difficult in the wet, dank growth? He has been missing nine days and none of the searchers have reported any indication of fires, either ashes or smoke.

Does his camera, found 1,200 feet from the crash, hold the all-important clue? It is a 35-millimetre with color film, which has been sent to Toronto for processing in the hope it contains a picture taken at the wreck, thus proving him alive.

What happened to the rubber dinghy and paddle the plane usually carried for fishing purposes? It has not been found at the scene. No one is certain it was aboard.

These are questions which make it still uncertain whether he is dead or alive, despite efforts being made by searchers to follow a trail made by someone.

1,500 Flee Fume-Filled Subway

It raged for 90 minutes while heroic train crewmen and rescue workers led hundreds of smoke-stricken passengers to safety in darkness.

First reports said 60 persons were taken to hospitals with smoke poisoning. Hospital disaster teams treated scores of others at sidewalk first aid stations. No deaths were reported.

The two-alarm fire broke out in a pile of construction lumber one block south of Grand Central terminal at 9.24 a.m. EDT, toward the end of the morning subway jam.

What would have been a minor fire threatened a major disaster with crowded city subway trains speeding in under the streets.

DISASTER ALARM

Police sounded a maximum disaster alarm which brought every Manhattan emergency unit and two field hospital teams to the scene.

Heroic subway motormen and conductors, platform personnel, police and firemen led human chains from the stalled trains to safety on smoke-enveloped station platforms at the Grand Central subway station and at 34th Street. From the platforms, the passengers groped their way upward to sunlight and fresh air.

Motorman John J. Crotty said the smoke was so thick in the shuttle tunnel near the terminal that "you couldn't see an inch ahead."

The emergency closed down a 12-mile stretch of subway. Approximately 1,500 persons were trapped in the three-quarter mile section clogged with smoke, some for as long as two and a half hours. Even in trains not reached by smoke, passengers were reported to have fainted from summer heat and lack of air.

The present act allows pensioners to remain out of the country only a maximum of six months without affecting the payments.

PLANES USED IN SOUTH AFRICA

Mob 'Bombed' With Gas

JOHANNESBURG (AP) — South African police were reported today to be using aircraft and helicopters to drop teargas bombs on a rioting mob of 300 Negroes in Lusikiski area, near the borders of Natal and the Cape Province.

The Johannesburgh Afrikaans afternoon newspaper Die Vanderland, said reports of "serious riots" in the area are reaching Durban but that no official confirmation is available.

The paper quoted its Durban representative as reporting that it was impossible to contact senior police officers about the situation.

The Lusikisiki area has been a hotbed of trouble among the Negroes during the last four months and there have been a number of sporadic riots.

It is in the heart of a predominantly African area—Pondoland—and communications out of there are difficult.

SEVEN SHOT

Since February, police are reported to have shot at least seven Negroes and wounded several more when mobs rioted against their ruling chiefs and headmen.

Villages of headmen have been burnt down and at least two headmen killed by rioters.

It is believed the unrest is due to Negroes' resentment of government-appointed authorities who are trying to force changes in traditional methods of agriculture and similar developments.

U.S. Urges New Effort On Disarmament Formula

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States, in a note to Russia, urged today that efforts be "redoubled" to find a formula for world disarmament.

The note was a formal reply to Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's disarmament plan calling for immediate scrapping of nuclear weapons delivery systems and elimination of foreign bases.

The U.S. expressed hope Russia would also give "constructive attention" to Western disarmament proposals.

However, the note said one "proper place" to discuss both plans is in the 10-national disarmament conference in Geneva.

"The United States believes that progress in disarmament is of overwhelming importance to the future security of all countries and that efforts must be redoubled to find ways to make a start on the control and balanced reduction of armaments," the note said.

The reply was made directly to Moscow because Khrushchev last week outlined his plan in a letter to President Eisenhower.

"The government of the United States of America will give most careful and serious study to the disarmament proposals," the note said.

After referring to the need for increased efforts toward disarmament the note said: "The United States representative in Geneva will participate in the negotiations in this spirit."

Serious Consideration Promised Soviet Plan

GENEVA (CP) — United States delegate Frederick Eaton today promised "lengthy and serious consideration" for the new Soviet disarmament plan presented at the 10-power disarmament conference.

Eaton gave the assurance even before Soviet delegate Valerian Zorin rose to present his country's new three-stage plan in what conference said was "a restrained manner."

The session was adjourned until Wednesday after an hour and 20 minutes.

Zorin said the new Russian plan took into consideration the French views regarding the liquidation of vehicles for nuclear attack by moving this aspect from the third phase of the original plan into the first stage.

PROPOSES JOINT STUDY

The Soviet Union now pro- be undertaken of the measures poses that "joint studies should for the discontinuance of the manufacture of nuclear, chemical and bacteriological weapons" for implementation in the second stage, he said.

Disarmament of conventional forces and arms had been transferred to the second stage of the Soviet plan, as it was clear that these forces could not play a decisive role by themselves.

Zorin said that in the past the West always had argued at great length about the necessity of controls in any disarmament program. In the new Russian plan the readiness of the Soviet Union to have controls with disarmament has been clearly shown, he said.

JOHNSON

LONDON (AP) — Dr. Hewlett Johnson, the 86-year-old "Red" dean of Canterbury, told television viewers Monday night he uses a rejuvenation drug and aims to live to be 100.

He said he used the drug H-3, developed by the Romanian Dr. Anna Aslan, three times a week "with the greatest benefit."

Dr. Aslan lectured the British Medical Association last November on the cases in which she claimed her drug had been successful. But the association's Journal later dismissed her claims saying there was "no real evidence that H-3 is any good at all as a rejuvenation drug."

. . . SEARCH

logger, Kenneth Cesspard, had found footprints made by soft-soled shoes that were traced to Hobiton Lake and completely around it.

"Searchers were told that Rawlings was wearing soft-soled shoes. But Indians live in the area and their tracks have confused ground searchers in the area."

Dr. Gee said the footprints indicated that whoever made them "was going at a good gait and was not disabled."

He said if they were made by Rawlings it would mean that he was trying to find waterways leading downhill to the west coast.

However, all aircraft flights over creeks and lakes in a westward direction had not picked up any sign of Rawlings up to press time.

RCMP officers involved in the search said they had not received any reports on the footprints.

The troops began an intensive search this morning fanning out from the log where the camera was found some 1,200 feet southwest of the Seabee wreckage.

"They also will search around the wreckage again to see if there is a body in the trees or on the ground in that area," an RCMP officer said.

"But we are still assuming that Rawlings is alive; certainly we hope so and will do everything to find him. We will assume he is alive until we know otherwise.

"RCMP and RCAF aircraft are continuing to ferry more men into nearby Hobiton and Hitchie Lakes and the RCAF helicopter is continuing a low-level search of the lakeshores there.

"There was a boat that searched the shores of Lake Nitinat yesterday and it is going out on another round today."

The officer said that the only evidence pointing towards the possibility that Rawlings survived the crash and tried to find his way out on foot were: the camera, the bed of leaves beside it and some footprints in the area.

Probers on Hand

These may have been carried in the Seabee at the time of the crash but there was no positive verification of the point.

Ground parties also have failed to find any signs of camp fires or other indications that would have been left along a trail by Rawlings.

But RCMP officers said the wet and dense underbrush could have hidden any signs of a man's passage through that terrain.

U.S. BORDER ARREST OF CANADIAN PROTESTED

'Gestapo Tactics' Charged

POINT ROBERTS, Wash. (CP)—Arrest of a Vancouver man by U.S. immigration authorities has touched off a wave of protest by businessmen in this border community 25 miles south of Vancouver.

Faye Wear of Vancouver was arrested and held in jail for two hours last Saturday because he was helping a friend build a summer cottage at this resort centre.

Carl Julius, a spokesman for the Point Roberts Businessmen's Association, said the arrest was reminiscent of Gestapo tactics and that the group likely would protest the action to congressmen.

"We don't want this sort of thing happening to our Canadian friends down here," he said. "Canadians are our whole business."

The incident came to light Monday when Mr. Wear complained of the arrest. He had been working, without charge, to help Jack MacLean of Vancouver construct a summer cabin.

Under the U.S. Immigration Act, no foreigner is allowed to work in the U.S. unless he has a resident visa or is working on his own property.

Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain Or Discomfort

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain And Itching As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain and itching. Thousands have been relieved with this inexpensive substance right in the privacy of their own home without any discomfort or inconvenience.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was promptly relieved. And while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of even 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—the discovery of a famous scientific institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

'Bill Protects Rich' Says Liberal Critic

OTTAWA (CP) — The contentious anti-combines amendments passed the second stage of Commons approval Monday with Justice Minister Fulton sweeping opposition criticisms into a political bin which he marked "mythology."

The legislation gained second reading approval in principle on a vote of 98 to 19, with the 15 Liberal and four CCF members present standing against the government and its supporters.

The amendments now go to the Commons banking and commerce committee where outside interests will be able to make representations.

Liberal and CCF MPs have pledged more stiff opposition to the measures in the committee.

Mr. Fulton, without replying in detail to opposition criticisms, said before the vote was called that the division would make it clear "who is in favor of helping small business and who is against it."

"Sheer demagoguery," interjected Paul Martin (L-Essex East). "It is a bad bill. It is a bill that protects the rich."

Mr. Fulton accused the opposition of "trickery and distortion" in its criticism of the bill. Liberal and CCF members had made no attempt to examine the bill calmly to see what it does.

"They have been the victims of their own mythology, that mythology which has sought over the years — fortunately unsuccessfully — to demonstrate that the Conservative party is opposed to anti-combines legislation and seeks only to weaken it, whereas only the Liberal party has done anything to strengthen anti-combines legislation."

Among other things, the proposed amendments would ban misleading advertising, attempt to halt discriminatory "promotional allowances" made by suppliers to large chain stores at the expense of small retailers, and would allow manufacturers to refuse to sell their goods to merchants using them as loss-leaders — below-cost "come ons."

George McIlraith (L-Ottawa West) said Monday that the whole jurisdiction of Parliament in combines cases has been in the field of criminal law. The alternative procedure now proposed would be a civil one, and as such would weaken — "and indeed it could be argued, may destroy" — the whole anti-combines legislation.

IN PARLIAMENT

Pension Appeal For 'Outsiders'

(From Times News Service)

OTTAWA—Appeals were made to the government Monday to reduce the number of years an old-age pensioner will have had to live in Canada to be able to collect his $55 a month after age 70 while living outside the country.

Paul Martin (L-Essex East) and Frank Howard (CCF-Skeena) suggested the reductions as the Commons gave second reading — approval in principle — to a government proposal that anyone 70 or over may remain outside Canada for unlimited periods and collect his pension provided he has lived in this country 25 years after reaching the age of 21.

At present, pensioners may remain out of the country a maximum of six months without affecting their old age pension.

Health Minister Monteith, outlining the proposed change, said it provides "substantially more generous treatment" than at present but ran into criticism from Mr. Martin, who asked why the 25-year qualifying period was being included.

Mr. Howard, terming the provision discriminatory and one that sets up different classes of citizens, proposed an amendment to the government bill that would have made it possible for anyone who qualifies for the old age pension by living in Canada for 10 years to collect his $55 a month while living abroad.

His amendment was ruled out of order by deputy speaker Jacques Flynn on the ground that it called for expenditure of money.

Farm Machinery Price Inquiry

The government obtained Commons approval for a House committee inquiry into farm machinery prices — but not without an opposition suggestion of political motives.

Agriculture Minister Harkness, proposing the study, said he hopes the inquiry can be launched immediately and completed at the next session with recommendations "as to how further price increases could be prevented or how present prices could be turned down a bit."

"A rather diversionary tactic," echoed (H. W. Herridge, CCF, Kootenay West).

Why wait until nearly five months after the session's opening to set up the inquiry? asked some members. Mr. Harkness pointed out that the inquiry will be handled by the House agriculture committee, until now occupied with an inquiry into Prairie feed mill operations.

A ban on election candidates "saturating the air" with spot radio and television announcements was suggested by J. W. Pickersgill.

Peddling candidates in the manner of a sales campaign for a soft drink has no place in the democratic process, he told the Commons elections committee.

Frank McGee (PC-York-Scarborough) protested that the suggested ban would discriminate against the candidate with limited funds who cannot afford air time for campaign speeches.

NO THREAT TO DOCTORS ON CARE PLAN

TORONTO (CP)—Dr. A. D. Kelly, general secretary, said Monday night in a statement on behalf of the Canadian Medical Association that no threat has ever been made that the College and Physicians and Surgeons of Saskatchewan might cancel a doctor's licence to practise if he participates in government contracts for medical-care services.

'Political Slugfest' In Sask.

"Anything can happen" in Wednesday's Saskatchewan general election, says a Social Credit cabinet minister who has just returned from the campaign there.

"I wouldn't attempt to forecast the result with three crystal balls," said Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan.

He and Highways Minister Gaglardi returned from Saskatchewan this weekend.

Mr. Kiernan said it was a real four-party "slugfest" and the split vote could produce any result.

"The confidence in the government seems to be shaken," he said. A stagnant population, due greatly to an exodus of young people was one reason. But the election issues altogether were confused. The medical scheme proposed by Mr. Douglas was not the sole big issue. There was "uncertainty" about it.

Mr. Kiernan said the CCF and the Liberals seemed to exchange "a deep-rooted bitterness." The people were "disillusioned" with the federal Conservatives.

Dear Sir,
I am not saying you do not take good care of the mony in your bank but please take very good care of mine. Now I don't know just how you keep the money whether you put it all in one place together or in separate cells with locks or what. But, I am saving up for a horse and as I think you know, a horse and a place to keep it, plus the feeding is very expenceive and a horse is hard to support.

Thank you for taking time to read this, and please help me get my horse in that way.

Yours Respectfully

A Third Force?

MR. M. J. COLDWELL (A great Canadian whose presence is gravely missed in Parliament) has revived his proposal for a "third force" in world affairs. He says Canada, the other Commonwealth nations, and Scandinavia should form a new group to act as a balance between the United States and Russia. The same theory was advanced, in various forms, after the last war but rejected in favor of the NATO alliance. Now that the two giant powers of the world are in stalemate, Mr. Coldwell revives his original thesis.

But surely this is the worst of all possible times to split the Western alliance. Nothing could suit Russia better than to see a new and fundamental quarrel between the United States and its friends after the dispute of tactics arising out of the spy plane incident. All that contains the expansive imperialism of the Communist empire is the unity of the free world. To weaken it is to invite further Russian and Chinese adventures.

After its pre-Summit mistakes there is a natural temptation to denounce the United States and blame it for everything. To criticize those mistakes of detail is one thing; to repudiate the United States by forming a new alliance in isolation from its basic policies is another thing entirely.

Those who favor such an experiment seem to imagine that the nations of the new alliance could somehow detach themselves from the quarrel between the United States and Russia and remain safe, perhaps almost neutral on the perimeter of the world struggle. And no doubt Russia will encourage them to accept that comforting notion.

But is there anything in the record of the post-war years to suggest that Russia or China will long abstain from interference in the affairs of weak nations merely because they call themselves neutral? From eastern Europe to Tibet, southeast Asia and the borders of India the record proves just the opposite. Communism, a doctrine of force, has shown everywhere that it respects strength and nothing else.

It is on this account precisely that the spy plane fiasco is such a serious business. It has enabled Russia to threaten the weaker states of the Western alliance with individual punishment if they co-operate in espionage with the United States.

In such militarily weak nations as Pakistan and Japan those threats obviously are having their effect. Indeed, the current troubles of the Kishi Government in Japan are one of the most alarming facts in the free world today.

They were not caused primarily by the Summit tragedy, since the Communist and anti-Western forces within Japan have long been attempting to detach it from the United States; but the existing Government's difficulties have been vastly increased in the last fortnight.

The troubles in Turkey also ante-date the Summit but no doubt they, too, are exaggerated by the same fears of Russian retaliation. The shock of Paris has spread in chain reaction throughout the world, precisely as Russia desires.

It will take months, perhaps years, to repair all this damage but there will be no hope of repair if the United States' friends, led by the Commonwealth, should now turn against it to form a new grouping which, without American support, will possess little strength.

So long as they stand with it, the United States will listen to the advice of its friends, as at Paris it was deeply influenced by them. Once they contract out of the alliance Washington no longer will heed them and very likely will turn against them, with particularly disastrous effects on a North American nation like Canada.

The West's prospects of survival in peace are difficult and doubtful enough under the best of conditions today. A fractured West will lose its last chance of safety.

The Continuing Battle

SEVEN YEARS AGO THE PRESS of the American continents set aside June 7 for the annual observance of Freedom of the Press Day. Since that time there has not been an anniversary unmarred by some outstanding violation of this basic right.

For several years Juan Peron rode rough-shod over press freedom in Argentina. Other South American countries have had—and some still have—government restrictions on their reporting of news and opinion. But this year the outstanding transgressor is President Fidel Castro of Cuba, whose treatment of newspapers which do not slavishly agree with him has been in the full tradition of dictatorship.

Through direct interference with publication and delivery of newspapers, through fomented labor interference with the news, and in various other ways both open and veiled, Castro has closed or taken-over half a dozen Havana journals.

The Inter-American Press Association, with six hundred members from Alaska to Argentina, is dedicated to fighting such oppression wherever it appears. It is a long struggle, and an unceasing one, but it is a struggle in which every Canadian should take an interest. Canada has not been immune from attempts to infringe the freedom of the press. In the press, as in politics, the price of freedom is eternal vigilance.

Help for the Provinces

ALL THE FIVE PROVINCIAL Governments of Canada now seeking re-election look to the federal Government for more money later on. Apparently they will get it, though not necessarily as much as they want.

Mr. Fleming, in a series of recent speeches across the nation, says that a new fiscal deal between the national and provincial Governments will be laid before Parliament next spring to take the place of the existing agreement when it expires March 31, 1962. This deal is to be negotiated at a federal-provincial conference in July.

Clearly Mr. Fleming has a definite plan for submission to this conference but, quite properly, has not revealed it in advance.

But he has held out such high hopes to the provinces (with a skilled politician's eye on friendly Conservative Governments in the present election campaigns) that they will not be satisfied with some small crumbs from the rich man's table at Ottawa. They are expecting big hand-outs. The demands of Mr. Frost in Ontario alone are over a hundred million dollars a year and all other provinces would have to be treated proportionately at the taxpayer's expense.

Hence Mr. Fleming faces a big change in his budget plans, starting two years from now, probably in a federal election year.

On his present revenue any substantial concessions to the provinces would instanly unbalance the present budget, which is balanced by an eyelash, if it is really balanced at all. Mr. Fleming must therefore expect very large increases in revenue before he satisfies the demands of the provincial Governments.

He will get them painlessly if the national economy grows rapidly enough, without any business recession, and thus automatically swells the yield of all taxes.

Or, if necessary, taxes can be increased to cover the new costs. And many costs beyond subsidies to the provinces are going to keep on rising annually in those areas which Mr. Fleming regards as uncontrollable.

It is clear, therefore, that with normal costs rising, and much more money to be provided for the provinces, we face greatly enlarged budgets in Ottawa and every provincial capital during the next few years. They will not involve new taxes if economic growth rises as rapidly as expenditures but new taxes certainly will be required unless growth is rapid and steady.

Mr. Fleming's calculations and his promises to the provincial Governments do not allow for any serious fluctuation in growth, any recession in business during the next several years. Everyone will hope he is right.

Everyone will hope, too, that when the provinces get more money they will use much of it where it is most needed—in the relief of the hard-pressed municipalities and their high-taxed home owners.

The High Cost of Spending Our Money

THE Canadian Government's proposed "Hoover" commission will have plenty of business to occupy it for some considerable time and the chance at least to slow down, if not to eliminate, the effects of Professor Parkinson's famous law in government administration. Unwieldy and prolifterating as it is, with the well known amoeba growth of all such organisms, the management of the nation's bureaucracy is a subject quite large enough for any royal commission. But there is another job to be done and it is still larger, in the volume of money involved if not in complexity.

Hutchison

APART from efficiency in management—the cost of overhead—how much money should the state be spending in total out of the nation's total income?

The "Hoover" commission apparently will not be asked, and cannot fairly be asked, to answer when its hands will be full otherwise. The recent Gordon Commission covered many things but it gave no answer to this key question.

The cost of administration, though large and of primary importance, is a fraction of the vast amounts, or so-called transfer payments, collected from the taxpayers and channeled through the state to millions of recipients, from the builder of a warship to the poorest old-age pensioner.

HENCE the companion problem of administrative efficiency is the final cost of the state, including not only the national but the provincial and municipal governments that live on the same taxpayer. Is the cost more or less than we can afford out of our final means, or just right?

Many businessmen and economists have argued that the cost of the state is too high in relation to our means and of itself restricts those means by discouraging enterprise.

Many politicians have reached the same conclusion at election times and promised to reduce the weight of federal costs, but they have continued to go up, with taxes, after the last national elections. The costs are going up also in provincial and municipal governments, and rapidly.

On the other hand, a new school of thought (or an old school under a new label) argues powerfully that government must spend much more, while the private citizen spends less, to assure a wiser disposal of our means.

THIS belief has lately found a habitation and a name in the works of the American economist, Professor Kenneth Galbraith, whose ideas have deeply penetrated our Parliament and the United States Congress, usually without credit to their author.

No outside advisers can decide, of course, how the nation is to dispose of its taxes, wisely or unwisely. That is the exclusive decision of government and legislature in the Canadian democracy.

But an impartial study by experts who have no interest in votes could tell us factually how the swelling expenditures of the state are affecting our economy, which is the sole source of any expenditure, public or private.

Is the increasing state increasing or decreasing our means of supporting it and all private expenditures? Is it a net burden, as some think, or a net stimulant, as others think, to the economy? A neutral opinion based on facts rather than popularity would be valuable. It might even lift the contemporary argument out of cliche, prejudice and garbled information where it is now commonly conducted.

A SECOND question arises out of the first: Beyond departmental expenditure, now using up about a third of our income, are we currently spending too much or too little on running expenses in the state and the private sectors of the economy combined? Should we be spending less on goods and services of all sorts immediately used and saving more or less to invest in both sectors?

There seems to be a general agreement in Parliament that this question has been answered already, that we are spending too much and saving too little. Few Canadians except Mr. Churchill (whose figures were wrong in any case) will deny Mr. Coyne's judgment that we have been living far beyond our means by the easy device of borrowing from foreigners.

The only practical argument is one of detail. How far are we living beyond our means? How much can we cut down on foreign borrowings?

CONCERNING these matters a royal commission, or possibly a committee of the Senate, which already has studied governmental administration and inflation and is now about to study manpower with a minimum of partisanship, could give us unbiased answers, with supporting figures.

Whatever they may be, those answers are unlikely to find exact acceptance by the state, by the private investor or the private consumer, but they would have a powerful effect on all of them.

After months of bewildering debate, much of it distorted for political purposes, we would then have a verdict by qualified men with no axes to grind. We would have, so to speak, a known, stationary mark to shoot at instead of a blurred and whirling target, or rather a series of targets often moving, at three levels of government, in opposite directions.

FROM OTTAWA

Will We Join Our Neighbors to the South?

CANADA'S minister of external affairs, Hon. Howard Green, remains optimistic about the future of disarmament talks despite the blowup of the summit conference and increased tension between the East and the West. The minister made that clear at a press conference he called shortly after returning from a tour of Latin America. He talked about Canada's relations with the South American countries and the need for improved relations in that area. He indicated that this country was moving into an era of much closer relations with Latin America, but declined to forecast whether Canada will join the Organization of American States.

Mackie

That was a question of policy still to be decided and he was not going to anticipate such a policy decision.

After answering questions on South America for an hour the minister noted that he had a few minutes left if there were any more questions. "Are you still optimistic about the prospects of disarmament?" he was asked. The minister seized on the question and proceeded to explain why he was still an optimist.

It was "just possible" that more progress might be made by the 10-nation disarmament committee following the summit meeting collapse than was made before. There would be a revulsion among the peoples of the world at the idea of another major conflict.

One of the reasons for his optimism was because of the feelings of the smaller nations of the world. Then in a remark that was reminiscent of the former Prime Minister St. Laurent's "supermen of Europe" crack at the time of Suez the present secretary of state said:

"The other countries want disarmament and they don't want to become cannon fodder for the big nations. How far the big nations can go in running counter to that deep yearning among the peoples of the world I don't know."

Earlier the minister spoke with relish of his tour of Latin America.

It had been very helpful for him and others from the department he had taken with him. He had become convinced of the great importance of that area to Canada and consequently was taking steps to establish in the department of external affairs a Latin American division. At the present time it is a section under the American division of the department.

Mr. Green made a nine-day three-country tour of Latin America. He found that it was developing rapidly economically, would soon contain more people than Canada and the United States combined.

Wherever he had gone in Latin America Mr. Green had detected a feeling that South Americans thought Canada was indifferent to them. There was puzzlement among the people as to why Canada persisted in remaining outside the Organization of American States.

Earlier in the commons the minister had hinted that Canada was moving towards membership in the OAS. But at his press conference when pressed to state whether this move was underway Mr. Green dodged and said it was a matter still to be decided by the government.

Canada's traditional reason for staying out of the hemispheric OAS was to avoid involvements in disputes between OAS members.

Canada might find itself on the side of Latin American countries against the United States or on the side of the United States against Latin American countries, or taking sides between different countries.

He said however that he did not think there was any conflict between Canadian membership in the OAS and membership in the Commonwealth. Canada usually held much the same views as the Latin American group at the United Nations, which was now the second largest bloc after the Afro-Asian group.

Canada will send an observer when the council of the OAS holds its regular meeting in Quito, Ecuador, next June.

WASHINGTON:

The U-2 Lessons

By WALTER LIPPMANN

THE U.S. Senate inquiry into the U-2 affair has now done its main work. Thanks to the high-mindedness, the experience and the sagacity of the committee's chairman, Sen. Fulbright, the work has been well done. It has brought out the relevant facts and the Senator has pointed out their significance. The inquiry has shown that the Nervous Nellies among us were wrong. It is possible in this democracy to conduct an inquiry into the causes of a national fiasco without giving aid and comfort to the adversary. We have been spared the humiliation of distrusting ourselves so much that we dared not inquire into our own mistakes.

Lippmann

In digesting the results, we must begin with the fact that the inquiry dealt with a question which has never before been investigated in the United States, or in any other country. The question was the competence of the President and his principal advisors in dealing with an entirely illegal and inherently clandestine operation which is, nevertheless, necessary to the security of the country.

Mr. Fulbright defined the question accurately and sharply by declaring after Mr. Dulles had testified in executive session that in this affair the issue was not the clandestine work of the CIA but the overt decisions of the President and his advisors who make the policy which governs both the CIA and American diplomacy.

Responsibility

They did not order the flight on May 1. But they had failed to cancel their orders, given previously, which authorized the flight that did take place on May 1. This flight was, as Gen. de Gaulle said in his television address on Tuesday, "certainly and at the least ill-timed."

The inquiry has established, too, that the critical period was the weekend from Friday afternoon, May 6, to Monday, May 9. During this weekend the administration issued two statements.

One was on Saturday admitting that the U-2 was a spy plane but saying "insofar as the authorities in Washington are concerned, there was no authorization of any such flight as described by Mr. Khrushchev."

The second statement was on Monday saying that such flights were done under President's order, and implying—as all the world understood it—that they would be continued.

This was the lost weekend. These were the days when the United States government not only avowed responsibility for spying, which was indubtiably a violation of international law, but proclaimed that spying was a national policy which, so it was universally understood, would be adhered to.

Unprecedented

These two statements combined were not only altogether unprecedented in the history of international relations but they were altogether untenable, as is shown by the fact that the President had to renounce the policy publicly in the presence of Mr. Khrushchev at the tragic meeting in Paris.

It is important to take note of the human circumstances of this calamitous weekend. Secretary Herter had returned to Washington on Friday evening after 10 days of conferences in Iran, Turkey, and Greece. The U-2 affair was already in a very considerable mess when he returned, owing to the false cover statements issued by press agents who did not know what was going on.

Having returned on Friday evening, Mr. Herter had to deal with the mess on Saturday. Younger and stronger men than he who have been on long trans-Atlantic air flights are not in prime condition the next morning.

Moreover, as the Secretary of State was returning to Washington, the President was leaving it. He was leaving for a weekend in Gettysburg. The two men did not meet face to face until the President's return to Washington on Sunday.

The momentous decision to avow that the overflights were a national policy was taken after talks on the telephone to Gettysburg. Thus a Secretary of State, inevitably tired and rushed by events which happened in his absence, had to deal with a President who was absent in Gettysburg, and in no position to hear the whole argument which preceded the recommendation from Washington.

Leeway

On the bad timing of the flight, the President and the Secretary of State allowed the CIA too much leeway and thus forced upon it a responsibility which it was not competent to exercise. If we were going to go to the summit, there should have been no more flights, once the date of the conference was fixed.

To be sure, there were a lot of things we would like to have known during the suspension of the flights. But now we have no summit meeting and also we have no flights.

On the handling of the accident, the first lesson is that all publicity and all cover statements and the like should always be retained rigorously in the hands of high officials who know what is going on. Spying is deception. But you cannot use dupes to deceive others and not risk bad results.

The second lesson is that the high officials should have been thoroughly indoctrinated long ago in the conventions and the practices which have always surrounded the black art of espionage. Manifestly the high officials, beginning with the President himself, were not indoctrinated. They were caught off balance and they improvised in a panic.

It will now be important to see whether or not the various candidates show that they have learned something from this very expensive fiasco.

First Local Flower Show

Hilda

The Victoria West Fifth Annual Flower Show on Saturday will be the first of the local summer shows.

After all our complaints of a slow spring, the shrubs and perennials have been coming along so rapidly that there should not be any lack of flowers for shows. Vegetables may be missing from this first event although in some districts I have already seen promising rows of potatoes, beets and carrots.

The folks of Victoria West are holding their show in St. Saviour's Parish Hall at the corner of Catherine and Henry Streets, from 2.30 until 9 p.m.

Roses will be featured in 20 classes, including nine classes for novices who have never won a first prize. An amateur with good rose bushes and careful cultivation has been known to exhibit the "best rose of the show," and surely that should be inducement enough for new exhibitors to come forward with entries.

Other classes listed are sweet pea, pyrethrum, iris (any type), aquilegia (columbine), delphinium, carnation and other dianthus (border pinks), lily (any species) and peony. All these perennials are now in bloom or just commencing to bloom, so that by the end of this week there should be plenty of lovely flowers for this show.

Since this is a one-day affair, entries may be made as late as Friday evening between 7 and 9 at the hall.

Even the children can compete, those 10 years and under to make a flower arrangement in an egg cup, while the 11 to 14 group are asked for one in a teacup.

For an interesting visit see this show. The admission of 50 cents includes refreshments so that a leisurely trip around the exhibits need not be unduly exhausting, even though you may not be an active gardener.

TCA Purposely Courting Big Losses---CPA Chief

GRANT McCONACHIE

CALGARY (CP)—The president of Canadian Pacific Air Lines charged Monday that Trans-Canada Air Lines is over-expanding equipment to court "substantial losses" and "frustrate competition".

G. W. G. McConachie told delegates at the 22nd annual meeting of the Alberta Chamber of Commerce that TCA's "fantastic" strategy contradicted policy announced in hearings before the Air Transport Board. It was on the basis of these hearings that CPA was awarded a licence to operate one Trans-Canada route in competition with TCA.

66% BOOST

Mr. McConachie said the "stubborn refusal" of TCA to recognize the new government policy of competition and to adjust accordingly was evident in a 66 per cent increase of TCA orders for DC8's and a 20 per cent increase for Vanguard aircraft.

"Apparently they are out to prove the government policy wrong, at whatever cost to the taxpayers," he charged.

The CPA president noted that government boards have jurisdiction over both of the country's major railroads, although one is government-owned, and over the entire television industry in Canada, although the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation also is government-owned.

He urged an air transport board of the same nature, similar to that being established in Britain.

U.S. MOVES FOR CLOSER CONSULTATION

'Togetherness' for NATO

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U.S. moved on two fronts today toward closer consultation with its North Atlantic Treaty Allies.

For the short run, officials here were talking about "the closest possible consultation and co-operation" with NATO countries on immediate cold war strategy.

For the long run, they worked on recommendations for a major NATO study of objectives over the next 10 years.

Three weeks after the summit collapse the need for closer Allied co-operation also was being discussed in France, Canada and other NATO nations.

Canadian Prime Minister John Diefenbaker, who conferred with President Eisenhower last week, proposed a heads-of-state meeting of the 15 NATO members and offered to have it held in Ottawa.

U.S. officials said such a meeting might be useful. But they thought some of the other Allies might prefer less elaborate, lower-level meetings.

Officials here said short-range consultations would take place along two lines:

—Discussion of over-all problems within NATO itself.

—Discussion among United States, Britain and France of "special questions" such as Berlin and problems outside the NATO area.

The summit collapse gave new impetus to plans for a long-range NATO study of objectives in the fields of politics, defence, science, economics and disarmament.

Such a study was proposed by Secretary of State Christian Herter at the NATO ministerial meeting in Paris last December and was approved by the conference.

HAMILTON PROTESTS INROADS BY U.S. ADS

NEW YORK (CP) — Canadian Postmaster-General William Hamilton said Monday there are "serious reservations" in Canada over the inroads by United States publications into advertising expenditures which would otherwise support Canadian publications.

ROCKEFELLER BACKERS URGE 'SILENT VOTE'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Supporters of Nelson Rockefeller started a last-minute campaign Monday on the eve of the California presidential primary urging a "silent vote" against Vice-President Richard Nixon.

Nixon is unopposed on the Republican ballot in today's vote in his bid for the state's 70 votes to the GOP national convention in Chicago in July. But a spokesman for the opposition group said California Republicans still could show their support for Rockefeller by leaving their ballots blank after Nixon's name.

Five-Year Term for Burning His Own Boat

SEATTLE (AP) — William Reed Nelson, 40, who admitted burning the 148-foot wooden fishing vessel Jamene here a year ago to collect $150,000 insurance, was sentenced Monday to five years in federal prison.

Nelson, a Seattle fisherman, told U.S. District Judge John C. Bowen he was trying to salvage a plan to "make a large amount of money in a short time."

IWA WAGE HIKE SET JUNE 15

VANCOUVER (CP) — The annual wage bill of B.C. coast lumber workers will rise by $5,500,000 June 15.

That's the date that 27,000 members of the International Woodworkers of America (CLC) get their second 10-cents-an-hour wage increase under a two-year agreement signed with the industry last year.

The increase will boost the base rate to $1.92 an hour.

$725 Experiment Just Misses

By HAL MALONE
Times Business Editor

Victoria Real Estate Board directors tried a $725 experiment last week. It was a good try. But it didn't quite work.

Malone

Directors offered $25 to each member of the board who attended the annual convention of the B.C. Association of Real Estate Boards at Penticton.

The idea: to get as many members as possible to the convention; and, to win the award for the board sending the most members.

Victoria sent 29 agents and salesmen (plus 10 wives). Hence the $725. But the Cariboo board carted home the membership prize, partly because the second phase of the competition involved the distance travelled to the convention site. Said Catherine Godfrey, VREB secretary: "We didn't win. But we were pleased with the turnout.

"Our people have a greater transportation problem than most delegates. We have to get off the Island before undertaking the eight-hour drive from Vancouver to Penticton."

* * *

The association represents 56 independent grocery stores on lower Vancouver Island. They own and operate a wholesale grocery warehouse and are justly proud of their progress in the last two years. Volume of sales has jumped from $750,000 to $2,000,000, largely through a sound, strong newspaper advertising campaign in which all members share the cost.

* * *

TWO SIDES TO THE COIN . . . Despite the drop in the rate of exchange of U.S. coins, the Canadian Tourist Association feels the problem of handling "foreign" money is far from solved . . . CTA points out that several U.S. papers followed up the anti-Canadian stand taken by the Detroit Times. This has led, says CTA, to a flow of critical letters from U.S. residents to the Government Travel Bureau. The more propaganda the more Canada's $300,000,000 tourist revenue stands to suffer, reasons CTA.

CTA researchers say a few Canadian tourist spots are still displaying signs "No U.S. coins accepted" which might as well read "Yankee Go Home." Others, says CTA, are imposing a surcharge over the rate of exchange. To counteract this CTA has undertaken a publicity and educational program.

The objectives are to persuade Canadians to adopt a more hospitable attitude towards Americans this year; to get across the idea that as "salesmen" we can't afford to insult or irritate our "customers," and finally to persuade as many as possible to accept U.S. coins at par up to $1.

Generally these principles are applied here. The few who don't should realize that it takes only a few bad apples to turn the barrel into cider.

Domestic Exports Value Takes Drop

OTTAWA (CP) — Reversing an upward trend in the first three months of the year, Canada's domestic exports in April were valued at $359,900,000, down 8.4 per cent from last year's corresponding total of $393,000,000, the bureau of statistics reported today.

The drop in exports was mainly attributable to a sharp fall in sales to the United States and West Germany.

COPLAND TELLS CMA

Canada, Australia 'Should Show Way'

TORONTO (CP) — Canada and Australia should give leadership in assisting under-developed countries, Sir Douglas Copland said today in an address to the Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

Sir Douglas, leader of the Australian trade mission to Canada and principal of the Australian administrative staff college at Canberra, said the partnership of the two countries in existing agencies might well be expanded.

"There is no reason," he said, "why the Western world should not contribute 1 per cent of its national income to under-developed countries."

Sir Douglas commented that Canada and Australia both are young countries with great prospects of expansion and any contributions they might make to the under-developed countries would be to their advantage in expansion of trade.

DISCUSS WORLD TRADE

Sir Douglas spoke at a discussion session on world trade, one of several topics on today's program of the CMA's two-day annual meeting, which closes tonight.

Dr. David McCord Wright, professor of economics, McGill University, said during a discussion of productivity that the problem of increasing productivity is not just one of efficiency, but the far more fundamental problem of inventions.

He stated that today there may be "a considerable exploitation of capital by labor. . .

"The constant pressure of higher money wages upon the price level is being contained to the extent that it is, by a speeded up introduction of labor-saving devices. It is capital's productivity that is really rising."

Montreal Man New CMA Head

Mr. McLagan is chairman of Davie Shipbuilding Ltd.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CP) — Export interest in Canadian flax was considerably improved at the close today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

The United Kingdom took sizeable quantities of flax and some inquiry was made from continental sources. Business estimates ran more than 150,000 bushels.

Flax prices were irregular. Export dealings were slow in domestic barley.

Rye reported an irregular market.

Overnight export loadings of Canadian wheat included United Kingdom 500,000 bushels and Switzerland 40,000.

Lakehead prices for class two, IWA and domestic wheat all were unchanged from Monday.

The market generally was weak although wheat and corn held a few small plus signs on a mixed range in the early afternoon. Rye was off major fractions in spots.

Tory Upholds Defence Plan

Canada's defence system and Gen. George Pearkes were upheld Monday by B.C.'s Young Conservative leader.

Gerald Coultas, president of the B.C. Young Progressive Association, said the defence network was "more organized than it has been in the past 15 years."

He said Defence Minister Pearkes had been subjected to "vindictive and unwarranted criticism" from his opponents.

"Charges of 'old' and 'inept' —that's the course they take against him," he told the annual meeting of Victoria YPCA. "That type of criticism is undignified; it takes the whole thing into the gutter."

Girl Sees Father Suicide After Murdering His Wife

BURNABY — A 15-year-old girl watched in horror early today as her father shot himself seconds after slaying her mother.

The murder-suicide occurred at 1 a.m. in the kitchen of their home.

The names were not released immediately.

Police said the couple had been drinking and bickering all evening. The young witness, eldest of the couple's seven children, said she had been kept awake by her parents' wrangling.

She said she heard her father's voice say: "I know a solution to all this."

A shot followed. She said she rushed to the kitchen to see her father shoot himself.

The six other children, aged from four months to 12 years, were asleep upstairs.

END OF TRIAL?

VANCOUVER—A ruling today by Mr. Justice Harry Sullivan may bring an unscheduled end to the trial of Walter Merrifield, 42, accused of the murder of Canadian Pacific Railway news agent Johan Streigel here Feb. 13.

The judge will decide whether a statement made by Merrifield while in police custody can be admitted as evidence.

Crown counsel D. McK. Brown told the court he would probably recommend that the trial be withdrawn from the jury should the statement be ruled inadmissable. Crown's case relies almost entirely on the statement, he said.

TOLD BY BOSS

VANCOUVER—A Dutch immigrant said in police court here Monday his slain employer instructed him to falsify company accounts to avoid paying income tax.

Kees Lydsman, 31, who claimed the protection of the Canada Evidence Act when he made the statement, is charged with theft of money from the late Charles Chatten.

"SYMPATHETIC"

VANCOUVER — Governor William A. Egan of Alaska says his state would be "sympathetic" to plans for extension of the proposed Pacific Northern Railway to the 49th state.

Gov. Egan expressed hope that he would be invited to discuss the railway development, but "to date the State of Alaska has not been approached officially in this matter."

SCHOOL FOR JOBLESS

VANCOUVER — Vancouver school board is considering establishing a day school for the unemployed.

School trustees Monday called for the study after trustee John Hayward said such a school would help those out of work to find steady employment.

He said such a school would improve the basic education of those out of work and thus improve their employment potential.

Navy Ships Collide

TOKYO (AP) — Two Japanese naval vessels collided during a night manoeuvre Saturday, killing an officer and a sailor and injuring two other crew members. Reports reaching headquarters identified the ships as Akebono, 1,060 tons, and Inazuma, 1,070 tons. The latter was holed and towed in. The accident occurred in Tsugaru Strait, separating Honshu from Hokkaido.

Four Island Alumni Named To UBC Senate

VANCOUVER—Four alumni from Vancouver Island have been elected to the senate of UBC for three-year terms. Some 7,200 alumni voted for 30 nominees to fill 15 seats.

New Island members are Willard Ireland of Victoria and Mamie Moloney Boggs, well-known newspaper columnist of Ladysmith.

Mrs. Frank Ross, who sat on senate from 1948-1951, and is also a member of UBC's Board of Governors, was returned. Stuart Keate of Victoria was re-elected for a third consecutive term.

Mrs. Boggs and Mr. Keate were two of four newspaper men voted in. The others are Eric Nicol, Vancouver columnist, and Cecil Hacker, publisher of the weekly Abbotsford News.

$3,200 TO QUIT LIBERALS?

MONTREAL (CP) — Liberal Leader John Lesage Monday demanded that Colonization Minister J. D. Begin be made to resign from the cabinet and from his post as chief organizer of the Union Nationale party.

Mr. Lesage made his demands at a press conference where he distributed photostatic copies of a sworn statement by Honore Pelletier, of St. Pacome, Que., stating he received $3,800 to quit the Liberal party.

Mr. Pelletier, a farmer who was Liberal candidate in Mamouraska constituency in the 1956 Quebec election, said in the affidavit that May 16, 1960, Mr. Begin "asked me the amount I would accept to change parties and become a member of the Union Nationale".

The statement said Mr. Pelletier had another meeting with the minister, May 24, and Mr. Begin gave him a cheque for $3,200, signed by Automotive Products Company, Ltd., of Montreal.

Mr. Lesage also released a photostatic copy of a cheque from Automotive Products Company, Ltd., made out to Honore Peleltier for $3,200 and signed by Heso Finestone. Mr. Lesage said he advised Mr. Pelletier to cash the cheque and keep the money.

Mr. Lesage said he is sure the originals of the photostatic copies which he distributed were what unknown persons sought to find when an office was broken into Friday night in the legislative building.

ACCIDENTALLY SPRAYED BEES, STUNG TO DEATH

ROME (Reuters)—A beekeeper here accidentally sprayed his own bees with insecticide, and the bees retaliated by stinging him to death. Guiseppe Gagliotti, 47, was attacked while trying to drive off a stream of red ants threatening his beehives. Suddenly a jet of the insect-killer struck the bees, who swarmed out in an angry cloud to envelop him.

Shotgun Ends Partnership

ELIZABETH, N.J. (AP) — An angered doctor allegedly took revenge for the loss of his job Monday by killing a former associate and firing several shots at his one-time senior partner.

Police said Dr. Anthony Ruvolo laid a shotgun ambush for his two former partners several hours after he had been dismissed from the medical group they had formed.

He ran down his quarry in the parking lot of St. Elizabeth's Hospital, killing Dr. Annunciato La Face. The head of the group, Dr. Francis Merlo, jumped over a five-foot wall and ducked into an entrance to the hospital as Ruvolo fired wildly at him several times.

The three doctors, all anesthetists, had formed a partnership earlier this year.

About a week ago, police said, Merlo told Ruvolo he might be dropped from the partnership because of a dispute over how to bill their patients.

Vics Bow Again

Front-Runners Victoria Guests Wednesday Night

NEW WESTMINSTER—New Westminster is back where it was all last year and Victoria is still where it has been all this season.

Falling further behind in the Inter-City Lacrosse League, the last-place Vics dropped a 12-9 decision to New Westminster Monday.

The home team, meanwhile, looking more and more like the Mann Cup champions that they were last year, used their fourth straight victory to open up a three-point lead over Nanaimo.

TRY WEDNESDAY

Norm Baker's Victoria boys will try to halt this trend Wednesday when the two clubs clash again at Memorial Arena at 8.30 p.m. The two teams meet in Victoria again Friday.

Victoria made a gallant try on Monday but lack of conditioning and poor shooting in the last quarter proved a big factor as Baker's team ran out of steam just when it seemed on the point of pulling out a win.

Down, 4-2, after the first quarter and behind 7-4 going into the third quarter, Victoria rallied to pull even at 8-8 by the end of the third frame. They opened the final period by moving ahead 9-8.

FOUR IN A ROW

Standout player of the night was defenceman Don Sepka of New Westminster, who picked up five goals on seven shots and also garnered an assist for a six-point night.

His brother, Cliff, lofted eight shots towards goalie Geordie Johnston but saw only one of them go in as Johnston, after an unsteady first period, settled down to play a good game.

Things were just as tough for Bob McKee of Victoria, who let loose seven drives and failed on all of them to get a goal as Les Norman turned in an equally fine performance in the New Westminster goal.

NOREN RELEASED

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Outfielder Irv Noren, released by Chicago Cubs, was signed by Los Angeles Dodgers, Monday. At the same time, the Dodgers sent rookie pitcher Ed Rakow to their Spokane farm club in the Pacific Coast League, on option.

PART OF WALKER PLAN

Youth movement of manager Tommy Walker has lifted Heart of Midlothian Football Club to Scottish championship and Walker gives pre-game instructions to three of youngsters he expects will carry big load for Hearts in future seasons. Helping Scots to 3-0 victory over Victoria All-Stars at Royal Athletic Park Monday night were Allan Finlay, 20, (left), Andy Kelly, 20, and George Robertson, 19, (right. Game attracted turnout of about 2,300 fans. (Times Photo by Irving Strickland.)

NHL TRADERS BUSY

'Offer Rowboats For Battleships'

MONTREAL (UPI)—There was a bull market for National Hockey League players but most club general managers felt "they're all offering rowboats for battleships."

That was the sizeup of Punch Imlach, manager-coach of Toronto Maple Leafs who turned down a three-for-four deal proposed by Muzz Patrick of the New York Rangers during the opening day of the NHL's annual meeting Monday.

NHL representatives spent their first day reviewing rules and rejecting all but one major proposal. They accepted a recommendation to give a goalie or any one else a minor penalty for deliberately displacing the nets and thereby delaying the game.

THUMBS DOWN

On all other proposals, they either rejected them outright, voted to take no action or decided to take a "wait and see" attitude.

Despite the general attitude of lopsided trade offers, at least two or three deals were expected to be finalized Monday night and announced sometime today—probably before the inter-league draft when the six NHL clubs select players from the Western and Eastern pro leagues. (The American League is exempt from the draft.)

Among the deals gaining the most momentum during the pre-draft period was one in which Montreal Canadiens, five-time Stanley Cup champions, would send leftwing Ab McDonald and minor league defence Reg Fleming to Chicago Black Hawks in exchange for goalie Dennis DeJordy.

BATHGATE MAY GO

At the same time, Ranger general manager Patrick was having trouble peddling his ace player, Andy Bathgate, who only two years ago was the NHL's most valuable player and an all-star rightwinger. Patrick offered Bathgate, leftwing Eddie Shack and centre Larry Popein to Toronto in exchange for Bob Pulford, Billy Harris, Dick Duff and Ron Stewart — all forwards — but Imlach was having none of it.

"All they want to do is offer use rowboats for battleships," Imlach said. "Sure, I'd like to get Bathgate . . . and I'd like to get Shack, too, although he sure hasn't done anything in his two years in the NHL . . . and I'm still hopeful that we can make a deal, but not something like he (Patrick) proposed."

Lynn Patrick, general manager of the Boston Bruins, disclosed he had presented a five-for-four deal to the New York Rangers that included two goalies (probably Don Simmons and Gump Worsley) but that the Rangers had not given him either a "yes or a no."

"In fact, we've made several offers," said Lynn, "but all they do is give me a maybe look."

COUNTING ON DRAFT

General manager Jack Adams of Detroit Red Wings said he had no deals on the fire and hoped to pick up young prospects in Wednesday's intra-league draft.

In the intra-league draft today, NHL clubs can pick up players at $20,000 each from the Eastern and Western leagues. But indications were that business would be brisker for Wednesday's NHL intra-league draft, also at $20,000 per player.

CITY LADIES' GOLF

Shirley in Hurry To Load Up Shelf

An Esquimalt housewife who barely had time enough to put one cup on her trophy shelf Monday got a good start in her quest for the Victoria City Ladies' golf championship.

Shirley Naysmith, 1955 city titleholder and a member of the B.C. ladies' team last year, led Monday's qualifiers over her home Gorge Vale course with a five-over-par 82.

Winner of the Mid-Island championship at Nanaimo over the weekend, Mrs. Naysmith beat out clubmate Dorothy De Girolamo by two strokes for medal honors.

Scores of 103 or better were good enough to qualify for the championship. Scoring on the hilly Esquimalt course was made difficult by high winds. Despite the wind, Mrs. Naysmith might have matched par had she not three-putted four greens.

Match play got under way today and will wind up with finals in all flights Friday.

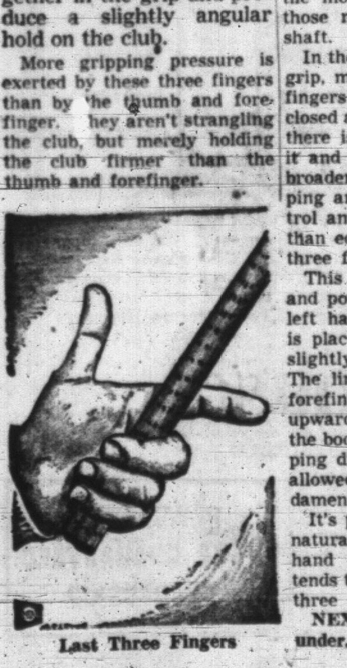
Mrs. D. Naysmith, 82; Mrs. A. De Girolamo, 84; Mrs. J. Todd, 86; Mrs. G. Harris, 88; Mrs. K. Lawson, 91; Mrs. H. McIntyre, 92; Mrs. H. Mearns, 92; Mrs. B. Thirlwell, 93; Mrs. H. McKenzie, 94; Mrs. W. Hicks, 96; Mrs. R. Rickinson, 98; Mrs. E. Saunders, 99; Mrs. J. Munro, 100; Mrs. F. Green, 102; Mrs. S. Keate, 103; Mrs. H. Bigsby, 103.

Natural GOLF

By JIMMY DEMARET

The last three fingers of the left hand are close together in the grip and produce a slightly angular hold on the club.

More gripping pressure is exerted by these three fingers than by the thumb and forefinger. They aren't strangling the club, but merely holding the club firmer than the thumb and forefinger.



Last Three Fingers

Note that if the left hand were to lower the club to the ground at a point behind the ball, the three fingers exerting the most pressure would be those nearest the top of the shaft.

In the fully-formed left hand grip, much like the last three fingers the forefinger has closed around the shaft so that there is a slight gap between it and the next finger. This broadens the left hand's gripping area a bit and adds control and strength slightly less than equal to that of the last three fingers.

This insures good control and power at each end of the left hand's grip. The thumb is placed on top of the shaft slightly to the left of centre. The line or V formed by the forefinger and thumb points upward toward the centre of the body There are some gripping differences which can be allowed without breaking fundamental rules.

It's perfectly all right if the natural relationship of the hand to the wrist and arm tends to make one, two or even three knuckles visible.

NEXT: Wrist high, hand under.

Boxer Critical After Knockout

NEW YORK (UPI) — Tommy Pacheco, a 19-year-old Puerto Rican lightweight who found his 13th pro fight the unluckiest, underwent brain surgery early today in an effort to save his life from the effects of a beating he took in the ring Monday night.

Pacheco did not regain consciousness following his 10th-round knockout at the hands of Bennie Gordon of New York in the main event at St. Nicholas Arena.

He was carried from the ring on a stretcher and physicians administered oxygen in the dressing room but could not revive him. He then was taken to hospital in an ambulance.

His condition this morning was "critical."

Monday's bout was only the first 10-rounder for both Pacheco and Gordon. Pacheco has been boxing professionally since May of 1958. Gordon, 21, began pro boxing only last year.

Pacheco was making his 13th pro appearance in the prize ring. He had won six and lost six in his previous bouts. Two of his victories had been against Gordon, both by decision.

Students Get Lesson From Navy Hurler

Terry McLaren, who has been a big help to Navy in Heywood Senior Men's Softball League play this season, was superlative on Monday.

McLaren, striking out 16 and giving up only four hits, led the Tars a step closer to first place with a 3-1 conquest of Chinese Students at Heywood Park.

He had to be good. Young Ralph Jay of Students also chose the occasion to turn in one of the better tossing chores seen this season.

McLaren gave up only two walks, but Jay didn't allow any. Jay struck out four, getting most of the batters on grounders.

Soccer Selector Likes B.C. Boys

At least four stars of the British Columbia All-Star soccer team, which fought to a 2-2 tie with Heart of Midlothian, Saturday, at Vancouver, may find berths on the Canadian team.

Bill Simpson, manager of the Canadian All-Star side which will play four games in Russia this September, said he was particularly impressed with performances of goalie Ken Pears, fullback Dave Stothard and inside forwards Normie McLeod and John Woods.

Simpson travelled from Toronto to scout the All-Stars' match with the touring Scottish club. He said the team to represent Canada will be selected next month, and the four he mentioned would receive first-line consideration.

Hearts' System Includes Waiting

City Stars Miss Chances; Hearts Grab 3-0 Triumph

Heart of Midlothian 3, Victoria 0.

By DOUG PEDEN

Tommy Walker isn't the worrying kind, which should probably be expected of a man who has confidence in his own methods.

Walker, the quiet, courteous manager of Heart of Midlothian Football Club, wasn't fretting at Royal Athletic Park Monday night although his Scottish champions were getting the worst of it in the opening half of their exhibition soccer tussle with Victoria All-Stars.

Hearts needed a handful of horseshoes to reach the intermission with a 1-0 lead, but the Tynecastle pilot merely shuffled his forward line around, sent his lads out for the second session and waited for his system to start working.

Walker's plan is simple—run the rival side off its feet in the opening stages and then move in for the kill when the opposition is muscle-weary.

It worked to perfection. Hearts, who came from behind at Vancouver Saturday to earn a 2-2 draw with the B.C. All-Stars, had the Victorians on the ropes in the stretch run and hammered out a 3-0 victory before about 2,300 fans.

However, it must be admitted that the final score flattered the Scots more than the local stars. Although Victoria was reeling in the final 30 minutes with Hearts frolicking in the Victoria end, the All-Stars had the most scoring opportunities in the first 60 minutes.

With better finish and a touch or two of luck, Victorians could have reached the breather with a two-goal lead instead of trailing by one tally. And they had a couple of great scoring opportunities in the opening minutes of the second half before the Walker system took its full toll.

Strong Finishing Kick by Scots

Thirty minutes from the finish, the stars had run out of legs and they never had a chance of keeping up with the well-conditioned, ever-moving Scots the rest of the way.

Bill Abbott, George Paul and Tim Walker all came close to getting the All-Stars out in front as Victoria more than matched the visitors in constructive passing during the early exchanges.

Paul forced goalkeeper Gordon Marshall to move quickly to tip away a fine header at three minutes and later tested the youthful netminder with a blistering drive to the right side. Walker, Victoria's most consistent threat on attack, tapped the ball directly at Marshall when put in the clear by Abbott.

Abbott, stopped twice when Marshall smothered the ball at his feet, missed the greatest chance when he blasted a shot over the bar from 12 yards with the goalie out of position.

Hearts, who went 26 minutes before forcing their first corner kick, didn't get a dangerous shot away until fullback Volker Stoldt was called for handling in the Victoria penalty area at 30 minutes.

Fullback George Thomson, a Scottish under-23 International and penalty-kick expert, easily scored on the spot kick to give the tourists their 1-0 first-half lead.

Short-Passing Game Treat to See

Kept off balance by the close-checking tactics of the All-Stars in the early going, Hearts began to gain momentum before the half ended. And once the Victorians began to fade in the second session, their use of the classic Scottish pattern of the short pass was a treat to watch.

Ian Crawford, owner of one of the hardest shots in British football, made it 2-0 11 minutes after the intermission. Taking a 20-yard free kick, Crawford gave goalie Al Davies no chance on a blistering drive that hit the right side of the net.

Fleet Bobby Blackwood ended the scoring seven minutes later, swerving brilliantly into the clear past fullback Ron Jenkin and moving in for a point-blank shot.

They were the players who did most of the ball-carrying and play-making, and they were the reasons why the Scots were most dangerous when attacking along the left side.

City Halfbacks in Standout Roles

All-Stars, working constructively and with spirit until they tired, also played a lot of excellent football. All deserved credit for giving the Scots a peck of trouble, but over the route it was probably halfbacks Willie Hamilton and Bob Mars who were the Victoria standouts.

Hearts, a bit quicker, flashing better ball control and more adept at moving into position for passes, proved themselves to be the better club in an interesting match. But if the Stars had been able to match their rivals in condition, it might have been a down-to-the-wire struggle.

Victory gave the Tynecastle team a record of four wins, two losses and two draws on their North American tour, which winds up Wednesday and Thursday with games at Edmonton and Toronto.

Walker, who rested some of his first-stringers Monday, including centre-forward Jimmy Milne and his half-back line of Jimmy Murray, Jimmy Milne and Andy Bowman, and has John Cummings, Bill Higgins and Alex Young away playing with Scotland, gave credit to the All-Stars when giving his impressions of the match.

"Victoria has the ability and knowledge," he said, "but the application was not as good as they would have liked it to be. They were slower in movement and the match went about as I expected. After all, they are only part-time players and their training is not as rigid as ours."

HEARTS — Gordon Marshall; Dan Ferguson, John Lough, George Thomson, George Robertson, Andrew Kelly; Johnny Hamilton, Bobby Blackwood, Gordon Smith, Allan Finlay, Ian Crawford.

The league's new division alignment next season will have Muskegon, Fort Wayne, Toledo, Indianapolis and Columbus in the east, and Minneapolis, St. Paul, Milwaukee and Omaha in the west.

TEE TOPICS

By ERNIE FEDORUK

That will explain in part, why Laurie Kerr and 17-year-old Dickie Munn are running 1-2 in the City Amateur. They were the wounded animals who lumbered around Uplands Golf Club Sunday, scaring little old ladies and rivals into the woods.

Kerr suffered his wound when he failed to follow through while swinging a garden implement last week. And despite a visibly swollen wrist, 30-year-old Laurie chalked up a record-matching 67 to grab a four-stroke lead after 36 holes.

Next in line was Munn, who Saturday annexed his second straight city junior championship. Dick played 72 holes in two days and played them rather well—despite nasty slashes on two fingers of his left hand. The cuts were more bothersome than painful.

Kerr's 67 matches the Uplands Club record he set a few years ago. Then, however, temporary greens were in use and improved lies permissible. Unofficial record is Gordie Pellow's 65, set this spring during the Vancouver Island match play tournament. Ken Lawson is also credited with a 65, set before the course was altered and lengthened.

Defending champion Frank Scroggs fired rounds of 74 and 73 and is tied for sixth place with Pellow, Bob Morrison and Tom Harris. That's nine blows behind Kerr's 138, but Scroggs still hasn't given up hope.

He was eight strokes behind Fanthorpe after two rounds last year, but came through to win it all on the last hole. Kerr's 138, incidentally, is exactly 10 strokes better than the leader had at this time last year.

The spectators were few, but there were plenty of interesting moments Sunday. Birdies were a dime a dozen and two players—John Merriman and Fanthorpe—rang up eagles.

Merriman dropped a long putt for a three on the par-five 14th, while Fanthorpe dropped a chip shot for an eagle two on the 15th. Bill Wakeham missed another eagle on the 14th by a hair's breadth.

Wakeham, incidentally, was the day's strongest finisher. He marked up a three-under 32 on his last nine holes. Kerr's 34 was the best going out.

Wakeham and Pellow provided the day's contrast. Gordie was 11 strokes ahead of Wakeham, 68-79, after the morning round. Wakeham finished with a 69 and Pellow with a 79.

Willingdon cupper Ron Willey easily won the New Westminster Amateur championship Sunday at the Vancouver Golf Club with a 36-hole total of 69-72—141. Doug Bajus took second place with 72-74—146.

Third went to Vancouver Club champion Frank Proctor with a 77-70—147.

B.C. golfers will have an added incentive to participate in this year's National Golf Week program. Vancouver's best professional, Stan Leonard, will be the man to beat when duffers match cards with the champ this week.

Leonard was to play his round with Canadian Amateur champ Johnny Johnston today. Marlene Stewart Streit will set up a target for the ladies.

The event, of course, deserves the wholehearted support of all golfers, since it is the competition that keeps the junior development program going.

The chance to beat the champs will cost golfers only $1. It's a dollar that is well spent.

SHORT CHIPS: Times staffer Pete Murray would be a whiz at poker . . . You never saw a more unconcerned, nothing-to-it expression than the one Pete displayed after dropping a chip shot (from the 15th fairway) for an eagle two on the 17th at Uplands last week . . . And Gord Forbes, another Times staffer who had driven the green, was so shaken that he three-putted . . .

. Pellow defeated Colwood's Vic Painter on the first extra hole Saturday to win a playoff for the Canadian Legion tournament at Chemainus . . . Bill Foulds, Chemainus, won the low net award while Tom Harris, Sr., took the seniors' championship . . . The spring closing allowance was won by Simonstown, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Halkett and ridden by Donny Richardson. The win was the second straight for Simonstown.

'Peg Peddles Four Players To Spokane

WINNIPEG (CP) — Winnipeg Warriors of the Western Hockey League have sold four unidentified players to Spokane, also of the WHL.

The deal was made in Montreal between the clubs' general managers, Jack Perrin of Winnipeg, and Roy McBride of Spokane, both of whom are attending the National League's annual meeting.

Names would not be released until the players involved had been informed of the deal.

Hard-Throwing Fans Irk Cleveland Fielder

BOSTON (AP) — Jim Piersall, centrefielder with Cleveland Indians, says he doesn't mind when pitchers throw at him "but I do object to the fans pelting me with stuff."

Piersall said he has been bombarded recently with such items as staples, oranges, golf balls and flashlight batteries.

"It may sound funny," he said, "but I could lose an eye."

Young Orioles Sold On Huckster's Pitch

By UP International

Pennants can't be bought for money, but it took a super salesman like Paul Richards to sell his Baltimore Orioles the idea they could win one with pitching and hustle.

Richards delivered his sales talk on the opening day of spring training.

"The White Sox won last year mainly on pitching and hustle," he told his young, impressionable Orioles. "If they did it, there isn't any reason in the world why you can't do it the same way."

THAT'S THE WAY!

And that's exactly the manner in which the first-place Orioles have won 28 of their last 40 games. They lead the American League now by 2½ games and even Al Lopez of the White Sox is beginning to show some respect.

"It's still a little bit early, but I'm impressed," Lopez said following Baltimore's 6-1 victory over Washington Monday.

The White Sox manager, however, was no less impressed by his own team's 3-2 triumph over New York's Yankees in the only other AL game scheduled. Only one game was played in the National League where St. Louis Cardinals defeated Philadelphia Phillies, 5-2.

6-1 RECORD

Rookie Chuck Estrada, 22-year-old member of Baltimore's "Kiddie Korps," struck out seven and yielded only six hits in beating Washington. Estrada, putting in only his fourth season in pro ball, did not allow a single extra-base blow in running his record to 6-1.

Two errors by third baseman Gil McDougald in the ninth inning enabled White Sox to win their fourth straight and remain three games off the pace, a half-game behind the second-place Indians.

Luis Aparicio's single with the bases full in the ninth drove in the winning run.

LADDER DERBY

Sorry, Try Again

C. G. Williams will have to try again to get on the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association ladder derby qualified list.

It seemed Monday as if Williams had made the final fish-off on the strength of a two-pound eight-ounce salmon. When the unofficial ladder was compiled he held down the 40th and last rung.

But P. M. Little's five-pound three-ouncer, entered late, knocked him off the official list.

Stan Successful In Qualifying Test

SEATTLE (CP) — Stan Leonard of Vancouver was one of three professionals successful Monday in the Pacific northwest regional qualifying tests for next week's U.S. Open golf tournament.

Leonard carded 18-hole rounds of 72 and 71 for a three-under-par total of 143. The best score was turned in by Don Bies of Seattle, who had rounds of 71 and 66 for 137. Ed Oldfield of Astoria, Ore., the other qualifier, was tied with Leonard.

The big fireworks were at Oklahoma City today as 228 golfers in nine centres shot for the remaining 91 places.

38 MADE IT

In all, 38 players qualified Monday — at Seattle, Denver, Cincinnati and Mamaroneck, N.Y. They joined 21 exempt entrants in the field of 150 to tee off in the tournament proper at Cherry Hills Country Club at Inglewood, Colo., June 16-18.

At Oklahoma City, 66 men, including former champions Julius Boros and Lloyd Mangrum, two-time amateur king Charlie Coe and former Masters champions Jack Burke and Art Wall Jr., battled for 34 spots.

Bill Ezinicki, former National Hockey League player from Winnipeg who plays out of North Reading, Mass., qualified at Mamaroneck. He had 69-75—144.

LONG TIME BETWEEN BIG CHEQUES

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Tommy Bolt won his first golf tournament since the 1958 U.S. National Open Monday, edging Ben Hogan and Gene Littler in the $30,000 Memphis Open.

Bolt fired a 68 over the 6,500-yard, par-70 Colonial Country Club course to beat Hogan by a stroke. Littler pulled in third with a 71. The fat end of the purse was $4,300.

Hogan and Littler split second and third place money, which totalled $5,000. The three pros had finished the regulation 72 holes with seven-under-par 273s.

the road to poverty can be paved with "good intentions"!

Most people periodically resolve to put part of each pay-cheque away for their old age or the proverbial rainy day—but far too few ever leave their savings intact to accumulate. It's only too easy to dip into "savings" for some passing fancy instead of saying NO.

A successful businessman once said: "Ever since I was twenty I've put around 10% of my net income into life insurance—and then I've been able to spend all the rest really enjoying life!"

Every young man—and career woman, too—should consider having lots of permanent personal life insurance, including long-term endowment plans, many of which, later on, show an increase in value each year of more than that year's premium!

FERRY ACCESS ROAD OPEN JUNE 15

THERE'S NO ESCAPE FOR GEORGE I.

London Rotary Calls Us Victoria, U.S.A.

A trans-Atlantic yelp, all the way from London, indicated today that they're still doing it to George I. Warren.

The former tourist and publicity commissioner of Victoria suffered "the unkindest cut of all" from the heart of Empire, at a London Rotary club.

He was introduced by the president as a visitor from Victoria, "IN THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA."

George gagged, fumed and sputtered.

In an airmail dispatch to The Times today, George reported:

"It afforded me a grand opportunity of getting in a good plug for our city by stating that Victoria had not been annexed by the United States and was the capital of the province of British Columbia and the Garden City of Canada.

"Cheers from the audience. Profuse apologies from the president."

They sat in the Speakers' Gallery in the House of Commons, listening to debates, and attended services in Westminster Abbey.

Already George has encountered two prominent "hometowners" overseas—R. H. B. Ker, a longtime friend from the old Tourist Bureau days, and Premier Bennett, whose dinner "G. I." attended.

Family, Pet Birds Escape Night Blaze

Fire believed started by sparks from a fireplace rubbish blaze crackled through an older house just recently renovated at 2225 Arbutus Monday at 11 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. William Ferriday and their seven-year-old daughter Carolin had retired when Mrs. Ferriday heard a strange noise, got up and saw a light flickering at the back.

It was the whole rear of the house on fire, having caught from the roof and walls where sparks landed from the chimney.

Much of the family's personal property including clothes was destroyed or heavily damaged in the fire.

Saanich Fire Chief Joseph Law said the fire probably had burned for a time unnoticed in the roof and attic before breaking out in the walls and ceilings.

INSURED

House and contents were insured for about $8,000.

The family split up for the rest of the night, Mr. and Mrs. Ferriday sleeping with borrowed bedding in a trailer at the scene and Carolin with a neighbor. A son was at work at the time.

Mrs. Ferriday said the canaries, which were kept in an aviary adjoining, came through the fire unscathed. A parakeet was rescued from the house by Mr. Ferriday.

Grad Party Ends In Police Court

Liquor Offences By Minors

Nine people are charged with liquor and nuisance offences at Colwood in the only reported aftermath of high school graduations last weekend.

Colwood RCMP said between 75 and 100 young people gathered in a huge beach party Saturday night at Albert Head.

Two were charged with creating a disturbance and with being minors in possession of liquor; two adults were charged with drinking in a public place, and five more youths with being minors in possession of liquor.

One of them, John David Horne, 19, of 3060 Donald, was fined $25 and $6.50 costs for creating a disturbance, and $25 and $3 costs for having beer in his possession when he pleaded guilty to charges Monday.

GOES TO JAIL

Magistrate A. I. Thomas imposed jail terms of five days on each charge, consecutive, in default of payment, and police said the youth elected to serve the time.

When police checked the large gathering, many of the youngsters ran off, got in their cars and started to drive away, but police made a check of the highway, resulting in the five charges of minors in possession of liquor.

The liquor in most cases was beer, but several of the youths had pints of hard liquor, police said.

TWO OTHER PARTIES

Two other parties at the same beach, smaller and more orderly, were not disturbed by police.

It was reported that all of the people charged were from Victoria, not Colwood area.

NAMED OUTSTANDING airwoman and airman of the year with the Victoria 2455 Aircraft Control and Warning Squadron, RCAF, are proficiency award winners LAW Judith Pauline Bone, 1840 Kings Road, and LAC Richard Rex Collard, 2639 Mount Stephen Avenue. Awards are presented annually on basis of trade skill, appearance and dress, parade attendance and general attitude.

Wengren Rail Hearing Set For June 21

A public hearing was set today for June 21 into plans of the Wenner-Gren Railway to the Yukon.

The Public Utilities Commission set the hearing for 10.30 a.m. in the Vancouver Public Library.

PUC chairman Dr. H. F. Angus said the PNR application, which includes detailed plans, was received today.

JUNE START?

The PNR has officially only until June 30 to start construction under an agreement between the Wenner-Gren interests and the province signed in 1957.

Date of the public hearings make it virtually impossible for the company to meet this deadline.

The entire project will cost more than $250 million according to plans received by Transport Minister Lyle Wicks.

Mr. Wicks said Monday the PNR had already spent $1 million on preliminary surveys.

Government members have remained confident the PNR would make the deadline. They have indicated that as far as B.C. is concerned Wenner-Gren has lived up to its agreements.

A syndicate of five firms proposes to build the railway which will run 700 miles to the Yukon border near Atlin. It will connect with the Pacific Great Eastern Railway at Summit Lake.

Timetable Ready For Family Court

Prosecutors for three Greater Victoria municipalities arranged a timetable for the area's new family court in a meeting Monday night.

Judge J. A. Byers, appointed with deputy judge Harold Alder in provincial order in council last Wednesday, said today he is hopeful that the facilities for family court sittings would be available this week.

Meanwhile, there has been no interruption in the function of juvenile courts in Victoria, Oak Bay and Saanich, which fall into the same jurisdiction.

Routine family matters covered by the Wives' and Childrens' Maintenance Act and the Children of Unmarried Parents Act—heard in camera in police court—were delayed when Police Magistrate William Ostler found the order in council had left him without jurisdiction on regular family court day last Friday in the city.

Jurisdiction in these and similar matters was vested in the new court for Victoria, Saanich, Oak Bay and View Royal-Colwood.

City Prosecutor T. P. O'Grady said in Victoria juvenile court would remain Wednesday afternoon at Cook Stret welfare centre, with clerk Lyle Somers.

Deserted wives and assault cases and similar matters will be at the welfare centre Tuesday afternoons.

Saanich will have alternate Mondays for both juvenile and other family cases, probably at Royal Oak police station, and Colwood will have the Mondays intervening.

Oak Bay "perhaps" will have Friday mornings for family cases, otherwise they may be heard prior to regular police court Friday afternoon, Mr. O'Grady said.

Clerks and stenographers will be the regular court personnel.

PROBATION OFFICER

A probation officer for the new court has been named and is taking specialized training at the probation centre, Vancouver, from which he will return in about a week.

Essentially, apart from separate court rooms, the only difference in the new arrangement is the transfer of jurisdiction to a specific judge.

Imperial Army Veteran Rites

Funeral for Frederick Henry Russell, MM, of the Corps of Commissionaries, a 14-year veteran of the Imperial Army, will be held Wednesday in Sand's chapel at 3.15 p.m.

He died here Saturday aged 73.

Born in Isle of Wight, England, he lived in Edmonton for 30 years where he was attached to the CNR investigation branch, coming to Victoria eight years ago.

Survivors include the widow, Winifred, at the residence, 356 Sylvia Street, and a son and daughter in Edmonton.

RCAF Golden Hawks Stars of Air Show

One, two, and four-plane performances will be packed into 20 minutes of spectacular formation flying at high speeds by seven men of the team in their gold painted Sabre jets.

The annual Air Force Day open house at Comox is expected to be the biggest yet and personnel at the station are already working on static displays illustrating the history and work of the RCAF.

The show will be opened by a flypast of aircraft used by the air force at Comox base including submarine hunting Neptunes, Canso transport aircraft, and the radar guided CF-100 fighters.

Refreshments and restrooms will be provided for the more than 10,000 people expected to visit the station.

A highlight of the show again this year will be the continuous showing of war films old and new. These will comprise first-run commercial movies in addition to service films and captured enemy movies.

Q. Would you please tell me where the nearest consulate of Belgium is? W.N.M.

A. Vancouver. Address of Consul-General Jean Davaux there is 1432 Marine Building.

Q. Please tell me if a family allowance cheque dated April, 1949, can be cashed? L.C.

A. As a cheque with that date is known as a "stale" cheque, it must first be returned to the Family Allowance and Old Age Security Administration (1230 Government, Victoria) for a check of the records. If the cheque has not been cashed, authority will be given to cash it.

DEAR ABBY . . .

Life Is What You Make It

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My parents are starting in on me again this year about going to summer camp. I went last year (I am 12) and I hated it like poison. I didn't have one friend.

Do you think it is fair for parents to FORCE a child to go to summer camp if she hates it?

They tell me it is very expensive and I should appreciate going, but I think they just want to get rid of me for six weeks. Oh, Abigail, what shall I do?

HATES CAMP.

DEAR HATES CAMP: There is no better age than yours—and hardly a better place than camp for young people to learn how to get along with others. The experience of living away from home will encourage maturity and develop independence that will be invaluable in later years. Change your attitude, Honey, and go. You'll discover that you need only to offer your friendship and it will be accepted.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Can a man LOVE his wife and BE IN LOVE with another woman at the same time? Please answer YES or NO.

IRENE.

DEAR IRENE: Yes. And if you are interested in the details of this age-old problem, read the article, "What Is This Thing Called Love," in the June issue of McCall's. I wrote it.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: We just bought a new home and I told a friend of mine that I was planning on having a house-warming party. She looked horrified and told me that it was not proper for a person to have a house-warming party herself. That was supposed to be done by her friends.

How can my friends possibly have a party in MY home without my help and permission? I didn't want to ask her this question for fear of appearing stupid. That's why I'm asking you.

PERPLEXED.

DEAR PERPLEXED: New home-owners are frequently surprised by friends who drop in with refreshments and gifts for the home. This is called a "housewarming" party. If you want to give a party to "initiate" your home, it is perfectly all right. But don't use the term "house-warming" or they'll think you are playing it cool to get gifts.

"What's your problem?" Write to Abby in care of this paper. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Not the Banquet—But Few Extra Calories Add Weight

Josephine

For a few days this week I am letting you look over my shoulder at some of the letters which come to me. This one says, "I always read your column and now that I am approaching my 29th wedding anniversary weighing 113 pounds (exactly what I weighed when I was married) I want to say something about weight control.

"I think one of the first principles that overweight women do not understand is that it is not the occasional banquet or party that puts the weight on, or the skipped breakfast that takes it off. It is the few extra calories that one takes every day in the form of nibbles between meals — coffee and a doughnut at coffee breaks, tea and cookies, and so forth, and extra helpings which put on pounds. These extra calories add weight so gradually that one hardly notices it. However, at the end of a few years they count up to 10, 15 or 20 pounds of overweight.

"I always have watched for the gain of the first three pounds and I exercise every morning for about 10 or 15 minutes and swim and walk a lot."

Amen to this and congratulations to my reader! It is true that it is the day-by-day habit rather than the unusual occasion which causes overweight. Those folks who are active in social life or whose business calls for a lot of entertaining or being entertained have a difficult problem.

Even then, if the usual daily pattern is right and they learn to take some of everything, but only small portions, they probably will survive with a good figure, given periodic, short reducing routines to take off the first five pounds of overweight which may appear.

My 9-day reducing diet which gives you a loss of from 5 to 10 pounds in 9 days recently appeared in this column. If you missed it and would like to have my 9-Day Diet Booklet, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request. Address Josephine Lowman, in care of this newspaper.

Sharon Carlson Wed in First Baptist Church

White chrysanthemums and peonies decorated First Baptist Church for the marriage of Sharon Ann Day Carlson and John James Garat. Bride is the daughter of Mrs. Eileen Carlson, 1132 Pembroke Street. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. John Garat of Campbell River. Rev. G. R. Easter officiated at the candlelight service.

Given in marriage by her grandfather, Tom Peden, the bride wore a floor-length gown in white nylon. Bodice was in lace and panels of lace trimmed the skirt. A tiara of pearls and sequins held the fingertip veil. She wore a string of culture pearls, gift of the groom and carried a bouquet of red roses and stephanotis. "Something old" was a silver bracelet which had belonged to the groom's grandmother, Mrs. Masters.

Miss Joanne Atkins, Vancouver, was maid of honor. She chose a turquoise lace gown with turquoise taffeta cummerbund. Headband and bouquet were of white feather carnations. Senior bridesmaid, Diane Carlson, the bride's sister, wore a similar gown in coral tones. Another sister, Linda, wore white lace over coral taffeta. Both wore headbands and carried bouquet of carnations en tone.

Changing Times Bring Cows the Modern Look

By PAT DUFOUR

On good authority the simple life, as far as dairy farming is concerned, is out!

According to Wendy, one of the 50 Holstein cows that form the herd of Bob Mitchell's farm at Sardis in the Fraser Valley, automation has changed farming methods so much that a cow hardly knows where she stands any more.

"Don't think that city folk are the only ones to have to stand in queues," she said when visited at her home during a recent tour organized by the department of agriculture.

"Twice a day I have to wait my turn in the milking parlor. Eventually they whisk my milk away from me by means of one of those electrical contraptions. It's almost as bad as a visit to the dentist."

Eyes blinded with city ignorance swept over the 167 acres of Wendy's home, looking a little fearfully for signs of the bull one expects to see on any well-equipped farm.

"M-m-moo!" she snorted. "It's easy to see that you've never heard — cows on the farm are artificially inseminated."

NEW EQUIPMENT

Quoting Wendy by indirection:

You have to stay on your toes to make a success of farming these days. This is a one-generation farm and by getting the latest of equipment and supplementing the income by spraying fruit trees on contract the boss has really built up a good business.

"He also provides a good cuisine. Did you know that he raises acres of peas? Once they're shelled and sold to the frozen food packers he turns the rest of the plants into tasty silage just to make sure that we have a varied diet. Believe me, it's delicious!"

Wendy pointed out the loose house (that's what they call it) which she and her friends use as a clubhouse during the bad weather. "The straw on the floor is always beautifully clean," she reported, "and it's not many men would think of putting in individual stalls at the feeding trough as Bob's done. Some of the bossier types would start some terrific arguments until those stalls went in. Now, everyone gets a fair break."

CALMING MUSIC

"Even our artistic wants are catered for. Let's face it— the winter months can get awfully boring when you're cooped up together—all under one roof. The boss knows this and that's why he put in the radio for us. You have no idea how calming music can be!"

"I do hope people of British Columbia realize how much the boss and all of us try to give them the very best in dairy products.

"Still, there's no room in dairy farming for sentiment," Wendy said.

Turning her head, her big eyes settled on one of the herd that was acting as wet-nurse to three new calves.

"That's my friend, Connie. She's not much good for milking any more so they've made her a wet nurse. As soon as she's unable to carry on her new job she'll be sold for beef."

"Still, it's to be expected. After all—farming is strictly a business!"

A special guest was the auxiliary's honorary president, Mrs. Frank Mackenzie Ross, wife of the Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia, who was accompanied by Miss Ruth MacLean.

Treasurer's report showed receipts of $2,750.28 and disbursements of $2,654.27. Main money-making events were a tea and raffle that realized $1,468; sale of dogwood pins, $603.75 and a coffee party, $172.73.

BRIDGE LESSON

By OSWALD JACOBY

North's three-diamond bid was not made because he wanted to play diamonds. It seems that North was using the Fishbein convention and his three diamond bid took the place of the takeout double he would have made otherwise. After South responded with three spades North carried on to game.

Opening lead—♣ K

If West had opened a heart South would have had no play for his contract, but no one can criticize him for leading the king of clubs.

Dummy's ace held the first trick. A spade was led and East rose with the ace and led the suit back. Declarer won in his own hand; ruffed his last club; returned to his hand with another trump; led the deuce of diamonds and played the eight from dummy after West played low.

East won with the nine and led back the queen. South cashed the ace and king and played the last diamond. East played the jack and South discarded the three of hearts. This constituted the well-known play of throwing a loser on a loser and effectively end-played East.

As you can see, any card East led would cost him a trick. A heart lead would be right up to that ace-queen in dummy; a club lead would allow South to sluff one of his remaining hearts and ruff in dummy.

T.V. with Lee

George Burns Special at 8.30, Canadian 90-Minute Drama at 9.30

By PHIL LEE, Times TV Editor

CATCHING UP—James Cagney will serve as host and former world heavyweight champions Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney will make their first joint TV appearance on Channel 4's "Ingemar Johansson-Floyd Patterson Pre-Fight Program" on Sunday, June 19, from 10.30 to 11 p.m. The Philco-sponsored show also will feature the first TV showing of the film of the first fight last June when Johansson lifted the title from Patterson. The fight on the following day, of course, will not be televised but will be on radio. . . .

The same night as the fight, June 20, the Emmy Awards—TV's Oscar show—will be telecast in color from 10 to 11.30 p.m., from NBC's Burbank studios in California and the Ziegfeld Theatre in New York. Fred Astaire will emcee the affair and it is expected that the comedy team of Mike Nichols and Elaine May will be on hand to lighten the proceedings. . . .

Roy Ward Dickson, an Englishman who launched his radio career in Canada and then returned to his native country, has decided to try a Canadian comeback, it was learned last week. He will make his comeback to coincide with the opening of privately-owned stations. . . .

Variety reports that everything is sweetness and light again between Garry Moore and CBS-TV after a three-week hassle which saw Moore threatening, at least, to refuse to do commercials on his Tuesday night show and, at worst, not appear at all. However, out of the row emerged an additional alternate week half-hour of sponsor coin. . . .

★ ★ ★

LUCILLE BALL may co-star next season in two or three specials with Art Carney. According to reports the bombshell comedienne proposed the arrangement to Carney and Bill McCaffrey, agent for the actor. . . .

Westclox will sponsor "The Tab Hunter Show"—a new situation comedy series set to begin on NBC-TV in the autumn. . . .

A college-level course in Contemporary Mathematics will be presented in "Continental Classroom" on NBC-TV in color during the 1960-61 season in what is called "a continuing effort to improve the nation's science instruction through network TV . . ."

The first network colorcast of a regular season baseball game—the Chicago White Sox vs. the Boston Red Sox—will be presented next Saturday by the NBC-TV web . . . Helen Hayes, Susan Strasberg, E. G. Marshall and John Abbott will star in Anton Chekhov's "The Cherry Orchard" on next Saturday's Play of the Week that starts its two-hour run at 11.05 on Channel 5. . . .

The CBC says that a total of 18 football games will be carried on its network between Aug. 16 and Sept. 24 of this year. Of the 18 games, 12 will be seen in Eastern Canada only; six will be seen in Western Canada only. Schedule is tentative and is based on present Big Four and WIFU schedules.

The big item will be a $210,000 eight-room addition to Elizabeth Fisher Junior High School.

Two rooms will also be added to the school at Milne's Landing, at a cost of $25,000, and one room added to Sangster School, cost $7,500.

Enlarged seating capacity at Belmont High School auditorium and gym will cost $10,000.

Police said the accused was striking the woman in the face with his fist. Thomas, a member of the Cowichan band, explained his action in court with the remark: "She was going with another guy."

Big U.K. Union Splits With Laborite Policy

LONDON (Reuters)—Frank Cousins, most powerful single figure in the British trade union movement, declared open war last week on the defence and nationalization policies of Labor Party leader Hugh Gaitskell.

The head of the 1,300,000-member Transport Workers' Union announced two shocks for the party leadership at a specially-convened press conference:

1. His executive council has decided unanimously that Britain should renounce the H-bomb—at a moment when Cousins, as head of the Transport Workers' Union is sitting on a union-party committee to draft a new joint manifesto on nuclear defence.

2. The executive has voted for retaining the nationalization clause of the Labor Party constitution, which the party recently proposed to modify by saying it did not necessarily favor wholesale state takeover of private industry.

The announcement made it clear the mass vote of Cousins' union will be thrown against official party policy at the annual conferences of both the Labor Party and the Trades Union Congress.

Politicians said Cousins' announcement could serve only to widen the big split in labor ranks on fundamental issues.

Tip Enables Government To Make Profit on House

As a result the highways department will be quite happy to find another home for its district superintendent at Fort St. John—who probably didn't realize he lived in an $85,000 mansion.

That's the price his home and grounds were sold for to Pemberton Holmes Ltd. It's understood the firm was acting for Hudson's Bay Company, which wanted the land for a parking area.

The government was tipped off by a whisper in advance, and hastily put the home on the market. There were two bidders, Pemberton, Holmes and Fort St. John council which offered a mere $15,000.

Strictly no contest, and $85,000 for the government.

Colwood to Protest Water Rate Increase

Protest against a Greater Victoria water board application to raise rates to rural customers in unorganized territory is planned by Colwood and District Chamber of Commerce.

A. J. Cottyn, chamber president, said some residents are paying triple the rates charged in Vancouver and a further increase is not warranted.

Esquimalt council was scheduled to decide tonight whether it would make a protest to the Public Utilities Commission against a similar application for higher rates sought by city council.

(City council does not have to receive PUC sanction to raise Victoria rates but does need the approval for an increase on the water supplied to Esquimalt residents from the city system. Saanich and Oak Bay have their own distribution systems.)

Mr. Cottyn said that Glen Lake, Colwood and Langford residents also were opposed to the Greater Victoria water board application because the unorganized territory has no representatives on the board.

"This is taxation without representation," he said. "They can make all the regulations they like and we have nothing we can do about it."

Conservation Group Seeks Delegates

An invitation to city organizations to appoint delegates to the newly-formed Conservation Council, was made today by Ken McAllister, president of the organization.

Individuals interested in conservation may also join the council, formed primarily for the preservation and acquisition of natural parks and greenbelts.

Interested persons should contact Mr. McAllister or Mrs. Gladys Soulsby, secretary-treasurer.

At an executive meeting Monday, it was decided to seek the assistance of scientists and experts in assessing any project under consideration.

PARKS PROPOSED

Some of the subjects which the council has presently under consideration is a proposal for the dedication as parks of the city-owned Thetis Lake and Beaver-Elk Lake properties. These areas are still classified as watersheds.

The council is also considering a request that Christie Point on Portage Inlet be made into a natural park.

Other subjects under consideration are the curbing or elimination of cars in parks, such as Beacon Hill Park and the retention of cluster lights in downtown Victoria.

Mr. McAllister said the council is not opposed to change and development.

"But we are opposed to a city becoming a slum," he said. "We favor proper planning and development and the wise use of recreational property."

SOVIET PRESS BLASTS DIEF

'Canada, an Exercise Ground for Pentagon'

LONDON (Reuters) — The Soviet government newspaper Izvestia Monday criticized Prime Minister Diefenbaker for toeing the "provocative" U.S. policy line.

Izvestia charged "ruling circles" in Canada have "virtually made the country an exercise ground for the Pentagon."

Izvestia was commenting on Diefenbaker's weekend trip to the United States and attacked the prime minister for expressing solidarity with U.S. policy.

"Such a statement cannot but alert peace-loving sections of public opinion," it said.

"The Lockheed U-2 planes are frequent visitors in the Canadian skies. According to the official version of the Canadian authorities, who follow in Washington's wake, these planes collect 'scientific' data about the upper atmosphere and radiation. But even the Canadian press itself does not believe these false reports.

"It is obvious that by taking such a stand, the Canadian government willy nilly assumes a share—and let us say bluntly not a small share—of the responsibility for those provocative actions which the American military are taking using Canada's territory and air space."

Mr. Tickle is attending the convention as secretary of the Victoria local, No. 247, with president David Townsend and the two are expected back Wednesday.

Ontario accounted for 93 per cent of the 170,255,000 pounds of leaf tobacco produced in Canada in 1959.

SAM'S STRANGE THEORY

Sitting on Top of a Plate

LONDON (AP) — Samuel Shenton has an interesting theory about all those people who are missing from home and seem to disappear.

He thinks they've walked off the edge of the world.

Shenton, a 56-year-old sign writer, is secretary of the International Flat Earth Society. He says that if you keep walking in a straight line you will come to the edge of the world. Beyond this is a solid ice barrier. And behind the barrier may be thousands of people who every year are reported missing.

Members of the International Flat Earth Society, who pay five shillings a year dues, are very serious about their beliefs. Right now they are hopping mad at the British Broadcasting Corporation. They say the BBC deliberately set out to ridicule their society when Shenton appeared on a program last week to explain their beliefs to millions of viewers.

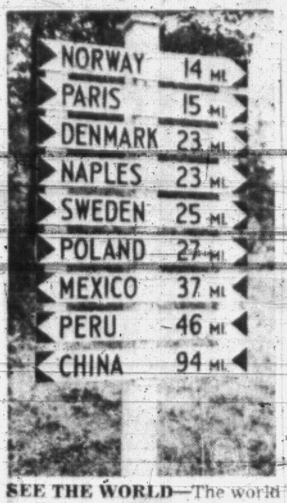
He said his flat-earth idea was not just a crazy theory.

"When you travel around the world back to the point where you started from, it is just like walking around the edge of the plate," he explained. "Beyond the edge is a vast ice barrier — from beyond which no man has ever returned."

Shenton believes the sun is only 32 miles across. It is a flat luminous disc. And so is the moon.

And, he claims, the world has a roof over it. But it's too high up to keep the rain off.

Over the years, Shenton claims, he has found hundreds of people who share his beliefs and who have joined the society.



SEE THE WORLD—The world really is shrinking if these signs are accurate. They are but don't worry. They're all towns in Maine.

Jamaica Votes Next Year On Secession

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad (CP)—The West Indies Federation, a group of Caribbean islands held together mainly by a common desire to become free of British colonial ties, will know next year whether Jamaica — its biggest and wealthiest member — is to remain within the fold.

Hon. Norman Manley, prime minister of Jamaica, has announced that a referendum will be held in 1961 to decide whether the island is to remain within the federation, officially brought into being in 1958.

Mr. Manley did not immediately set a date for the referendum. His announcement was made 17 hours after Sir Alexander Bustamante, colorful, hard-hitting veteran of many a Jamaican political scrap, disclosed he was resigning as opposition leader to lead a fight for Jamaica's secession from federation.

NEW YORK—I am lame and in a box, and I've got a pointed head.

So I'm growing a Castro or a Mitch, and almost any decade now, I'll be able to make the Hipsville scene.

"Lame" is to be a square, and if you're square, you're nowhere, and to get out of the box, to become a rounder, you've got to enrich your vocabulary. You've got to say "Listen, Charlie," particularly to people named Sam, and also Mary and Gertrude. Otherwise, you'll never be called a cat and a mother and a swinger, and you're Deadsville, which is like making the Forest Lawn scene.

JAYE P. MORGAN
. . . separated

"Your Yale Knife — forget it, Charlie," young Mr. Benton advised me.

"My Yale Knife?" I wondered.

"Your YK, yeah—don't be a box."

MY CREWCUT

My Yale Knife, I discovered, was my crewcut, although I think I would have named it a Princeton Pancake.

"Look Charlie," Brook told me, "the hip talk is growing everywhere, like. You got to speak it to find all the action."

"Ink me, Daddy," the flip flipped. That's N.Y. hip. Out in Los Angeles, they say, "Do me, Man." Or something complicated such as "Here's a book—make your Brook."

'MEET THE RIB'

Every city appears to have its own. In Las Vegas a cat introducing his chick says "Meet the Rib." In Kansas City that's "Spank the plank." In Akron, an ice cream soda is "bubbles," in Milwaukee its "cream on the rocks." Automobiles pique the hipsters' interest, too. A convertible in Philadelphia is, for example, "a go-cart."

"I'm gonna cop some ZZZs" is to sleep . . . the ZZZs coming from the cartoonists' balloons showing their subjects snoozing. To say merely "Later" is "Goodbye." Around Boston, a theatre pass is "a visa."

Well, I'm cuttin' out. I've got to get my head tightened.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL

Singer Jaye P. Morgan and her groom (Chuck Kelly of the Modernaires) are separated already . . . Jimmy Durante's long-time drummer, Jack Roth, is seriously ill . . . The "Thurber Carnival" producers hope to land Ray Bolger when Tom Ewell leaves to do TV . . . Eartha Kitt and wealthy realtor Bill McDonald said at El Rancho Vegas they've picked the day—June 9 . . . Anne ("Miracle Worker") Bancroft's business mgr. boosted her weekly allowance — from $50 to $75.

EARTHA KITT
. . . weds Thursday

Ted Lewis and Sophie Tucker—now working together—have been asked to bring their cafe act to a B'way theatre . . . Tony Quinn (of "Guns of Navarone") turned down a fortune in film roles—he wants to do a B'way show . . .

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia, and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Bill Wakefield, age 11, of Indianapolis, Ind., for his question:

How Do We Know That There Were Dinosaurs?

Early in the last century, most thinking people were sure that this world of ours was about 6,000 years old. Sometimes they noticed strange scratchings on the rocks and sometimes they found strange bones buried deep in the earth. Most people explained these things as the work of Noah's flood. Mountains of water would tear at the rocks and many creatures would naturally die and be buried in the muddy silt.

Then, around 1836, a young Swiss professor named Louis Agassis came up with a better explanation for some of these things. He had seen these sorts of glaciers in his native Alps and was certain that similar glaciers had been at work in other parts of the world. With more and more detective work the scientists were able to prove that there were Ice Ages, millions of years in the past. The old earth had had far more birthdays than most people thought.

Soon after this discovery, the whole world became interested in buried bones. We call them fossils, meaning something dug up, and some of them are far, far older than Noah's flood—even older than the remote Ice Ages. The study of fossils is called paleontology. Though it is less than 200 years old, this science has already shown us how to turn back the pages of earth's history for millions of years.

A paleontologist must know a great deal about the rocks in which he digs. He must know how they were made, whether by muddy silt in some shallow sea or by some fiery volcano. He must know the age of his rocks and when they were formed. This is one way to date the fossils he finds there. After countless hours of painstaking detective work, we now know that living things have existed on earth in a long parade for at least 500 million years.

Strange Footprints Found

Long before the Ice Ages were dated, strange footprints had been seen in the rocks of the Connecticut Valley. They were two-footed tracks and seemed to be made by giant birds. Later, giant bones were found in the western deserts. Whole skeletons were put together and when we see these monsters in a museum we just have to believe our own eyes. The evidence of the rocks shows that many of them lived 100 million years ago. Some of them walked on two feet, feet like those which made the strange tracks in the Connecticut Valley.

Bit by bit we learned about the countless varieties of dinosaur. We found imprints of their scaly skins and fossil dinosaur eggs. In the soil inside one giant rib cage we found a number of smooth pebbles. This suggests that at least some of the dinosaurs had gizzards. Certainly we have proved that dinosaurs once existed, but there is still much more we are curious to learn. Perhaps you can dig up an old fossil bone one day yourself and add a bit of new information.

PAKISTAN ALLEGED IN PLOT TO KILL NEHRU

NEW DELHI (Reuters)—A college graduate and four accomplices have appeared before a judge in a jail at Ambala, northern India, charged with plotting to kill Prime Minister Nehru and other Indian leaders, newspapers here report.

The prosecution charged at a hearing Saturday that the five had received large sums of money from officials in Pakistan as an inducement to murder Indian leaders and create chaos in India.

BALLOON MEASURING 20-MILE-HIGH RAYS

The 10-storey high balloon was launched Sunday.

Beneath the polyethylene plastic balloon, about seven acres in area, a $50,000 stack of nuclear emulsion film sheets weighing 800 pounds measured cosmic ray force, thought to be even more powerful than particles erupting in atomic fission.

IN ISOLATION—Dr. R. Bernard Finch, held pending a second trial on charges he killed his wife, was placed in an isolation cell May 21-22 for disobeying a guard. Jailer Joseph Gaalken disclosed Monday that Finch was punished because he insisted on dressing for a court appearance in his cell, rather than in a rest room.

GRIM CHOICE FOR EICHMANN

'Die Now or Go to Israel'

TEL AVIV, Israel (Reuters)—Jewish volunteers who tracked down Adolf Eichmann in Argentina gave him a choice between execution on the spot or a trial in Israel, it was believed here today.

This was the interpretation of trained observers here of the Israeli note to Argentina Monday declaring that Eichmann had given written approval for his return here to stand trial for war crimes.

The note said Eichmann, held responsible for the death of millions of Jews during the Second World War, was given 24 hours to make up his mind about going with his captors to Israel.

Observers here believed that during those 24 hours Eichmann was under close guard and under the threat of on-the-spot execution if he refused to go to Israel.

This Israeli note confirmed some details of Eichmann's arrest already known here, but observers were surprised by its statement that Eichmann wanted to stand trial for his own peace of mind.

An informed source here said Premier David Ben-Gurion had personally given the directives for the drafting of the Israeli note, which he hoped would satisfy the Argentine government in view of the unusual background of the case.

The degree of frankness in the note came as a surprise to most observers here because official statements had indicated that Israel would not officially recognize Eichmann's capture in Argentina.

This policy was abandoned only in the face of revelations by reporters in Argentina, some observers stated.

Others believe that a reason for the change of policy was Ben-Gurion's growing conviction that Israel had every right to act as she did, even though the method might have been unorthodox.

Nicola Log Cut Limited

The government has limited timber cutting in the Nicola sustained yield unit by declaring it an "emergency area."

The forestry department has obtained a cabinet order-in-council which limits activity in the unit—which is near Merritt—under the new forest policy.

Earlier this year sustained yield units at Lac la Hache and Williams Lake were declared emergency areas.

PLANES USED IN SOUTH AFRICA

Mob 'Bombed' With Gas

JOHANNESBURG (AP) — South African police were reported today to be using aircraft and helicopters to drop teargas bombs on a rioting mob of 300 Negroes in Lusikiski area, near the borders of Natal and the Cape Province.

The Johannesburgh Afrikaans afternoon newspaper Die Vanderland, said reports of "serious riots" in the area are reaching Durban but that no official confirmation is available.

The paper quoted its Durban representative as reporting that it was impossible to contact senior police officers about the situation.

The Lusikisiki area has been a hotbed of trouble among the Negroes during the last four months and there have been a number of sporadic riots.

It is in the heart of a predominantly African area—Pondoland—and communications out of there are difficult.

SEVEN SHOT

Since February, police are reported to have shot at least seven Negroes and wounded several more when mobs rioted against their ruling chiefs and headmen.

Villages of headmen have been burnt down and at least two headmen killed by rioters.

It is believed the unrest is due to Negroes' resentment of government-appointed authorities who are trying to force changes in traditional methods of agriculture and similar developments.

1,500 Flee Fume-Filled Subway

It raged for 90 minutes while heroic train crewmen and rescue workers led hundreds of smoke-stricken passengers to safety in darkness.

First reports said 60 persons were taken to hospitals with smoke poisoning. Hospital disaster teams treated scores of others at sidewalk first aid stations. No deaths were reported.

The two-alarm fire broke out in a pile of construction lumber one block south of Grand Central terminal at 9.24 a.m. EDT, toward the end of the morning subway jam.

What would have been a minor fire threatened a major disaster with crowded city subway trains speeding in under the streets.

DISASTER ALARM

Police sounded a maximum disaster alarm which brought every Manhattan emergency unit and two field hospital teams to the scene.

Heroic subway motormen and conductors, platform personnel, police and firemen led human chains from the stalled trains to safety on smoke-enveloped station platforms at the Grand Central subway station and at 34th Street. From the platforms, the passengers groped their way upward to sunlight and fresh air.

Motorman John J. Crotty said the smoke was so thick in the shuttle tunnel near the terminal that "you couldn't see an inch ahead."

The emergency closed down a 12-mile stretch of subway. Approximately 1,500 persons were trapped in the three-quarter mile section clogged with smoke, some for as long as two and a half hours. Even in trains not reached by smoke, passengers were reported to have fainted from summer heat and lack of air.

NON-RESIDENT PENSION PLAN WINS APPROVAL

(See Also Page 3)

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons gave final approval today to a government amendment to the Old Age Security Act which will allow pensioners to collect benefits while living outside the country.

Under the amendment, anyone 70 or older may remain outside Canada for unlimited periods and collect the $55-a-month pension provided he has lived in this country 25 years after reaching the age of 21.

The present act allows pensioners to remain out of the country only a maximum of six months without affecting the payments.

UNANSWERED QUESTIONS PLAGUE HUNT

Clues: Are They Fact or Fancy?

Although searchers are hoping against hope that Cecil Rawlings is still alive after the plane crash near Nitinat Lake, his disappearance from the crash scene has raised one of the great mysteries of the Island's history.

Still not answered are a number of questions which deepen the problem:

If he lived through the crash was he so dazed he did not realize his whereabouts and simply wandered off?

If not, would he have left the plane without leaving some sort of message or indication which way he intended to go?

If he was injured could he have travelled very far in the dense undergrowth?

If uninjured would he have left the scene without covering up the body of his partner and long-time chum? There was no indication any such attempt was made.

If he had a survival kit surely he would have been able to kindle some kind of fire, even though this would be difficult in the wet, dank growth? He has been missing nine days and none of the searchers have reported any indication of fires, either ashes or smoke.

Does his camera, found 1,200 feet from the crash, hold the all-important clue? It is a 35-millimetre with color film, which has been sent to Toronto for processing in the hope it contains a picture taken at the wreck, thus proving him alive.

What happened to the rubber dinghy and paddle the plane usually carried for fishing purposes? It has not been found at the scene. No one is certain it was aboard.

These are questions which make it still uncertain whether he is dead or alive, despite efforts being made by searchers to follow a trail made by someone.

U.S. Urges New Effort On Disarmament Formula

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States, in a note to Russia, urged today that efforts be "redoubled" to find a formula for world disarmament.

The note was a formal reply to Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's disarmament plan calling for immediate scrapping of nuclear weapons delivery systems and elimination of foreign bases.

However, the note said one "proper place" to discuss both plans is in the 10-national disarmament conference in Geneva.

"The United States believes that progress in disarmament is of overwhelming importance to the future security of all countries and that efforts must be redoubled to find ways to make a start on the control and balanced reduction of armaments," the note said.

The reply was made directly to Moscow because Khrushchev last week outlined his plan in a letter to President Eisenhower.

"The government of the United States of America will give most careful and serious study to the disarmament proposals," the note said.

After referring to the need for increased efforts toward disarmament the note said: "The United States representative in Geneva will participate in the negotiations in this spirit."

Serious Consideration Promised Soviet Plan

GENEVA (CP) — United States delegate Frederick Eaton today promised "lengthy and serious consideration" for the new Soviet disarmament plan presented at the 10-power disarmament conference.

Eaton gave the assurance even before Soviet delegate Valerian Zorin rose to present his country's new three-stage plan in what conference said was "a restrained manner."

The session was adjourned until Wednesday after an hour and 20 minutes.

Zorin said the new Russian plan took into consideration the French views regarding the liquidation of vehicles for nuclear attack by moving this aspect from the third phase of the original plan into the first stage.

PROPOSES JOINT STUDY

The Soviet Union now pro- be undertaken of the measures poses that "joint studies should for the discontinuance of the manufacture of nuclear, chemical and bacteriological weapons" for implementation in the second stage, he said.

Disarmament of conventional forces and arms had been transferred to the second stage of the Soviet plan, as it was clear that these forces could not play a decisive role by themselves.

Zorin said that in the past the West always had argued at great length about the necessity of controls in any disarmament program. In the new Russian plan the readiness of the Soviet Union to have controls with disarmament has been clearly shown, he said.

FORMER Liberal MLA Gordon Gibson was nominated by North Vancouver Liberal Association Monday night with provincial leader Ray Perrault to contest riding's two seats in next provincial election.

By JOHN MIKA

Three civilian float planes joined the search this morning to check the west coast and several small lakes and creeks emptying into the ocean.

Conflicting clues still had searchers wondering whether Rawlings survived the crash of the Seabee amphibian which killed his business partner Cecil Rhodes when the aircraft slammed into a forest-covered slope 1½ miles west of Lake Nitinat's northern tip May 29. The men were on a one-day fishing trip.

Helicopter Back

A boat today continued a search of the shores of Nitinat Lake that began Monday afternoon while an RCAF helicopter returned again and again to check the shore lines of nearby Hitchie and Hobiton Lakes.

It carried logger Todd Palliser and Lake Cowichan coroner Dr. Edgar Gee on flights that covered Tsusiat Lake, Hitchie Creek, Squalicum Lake, Carmanah Creek and the Klanawa River in a search of all waterways over an approximate 50-square miles that Rawlings may have followed if alive.

Two other Piper float planes, a Victoria Flying Services aircraft, an RCMP Beaver and an RCAF Otter criss-crossed the search area this morning.

Troops in Search

A company of Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry soldiers from Work Point spread out along the Hobiton-Hitchie Lake area while another company searched the general area of the crash.

Focal point of the ground search was a windfall, about one-quarter of a mile away from the Seabee wreckage, where B.C. Forest Products forester Webb Binion found a camera that belonged to Rawlings.

Erroneous reports of the camera's location sent parties of soldiers on fruitless searches Monday up to four miles away from the wreckage in an effort to pick up more clues.

The searchers raced against time in an effort to find the missing Victorian in case he was still wandering around the rain-soaked tangle of underbrush.

Dr. Gee, modifying a previous statement that Rawlings could not have survived the crash, said:

"It's possible he is still alive, if he hasn't contracted pneumonia. It's not particularly cold in there—about 45 or 50 degrees—but he must have been dazed."

Dr. Gee reported that a

. . . rejuvenated

LONDON (AP) — Dr. Hewlett Johnson, the 86-year-old "Red" dean of Canterbury, told television viewers Monday night he uses a rejuvenation drug and aims to live to be 100.

He said he used the drug H-3, developed by the Romanian Dr. Anna Aslan, three times a week "with the greatest benefit."

Dr. Aslan lectured the British Medical Association last November on the cases in which she claimed her drug had been successful. But the association's Journal later dismissed her claims saying there was "no real evidence that H-3 is any good at all as a rejuvenation drug."

HOME GARDEN

By HILDA BEASTALL

First Local Flower Show

The Victoria West Fifth Annual Flower Show on Saturday will be the first of the local summer shows.

Hilda

After all our complaints of a slow spring, the shrubs and perennials have been coming along so rapidly that there should not be any lack of flowers for shows. Vegetables may be missing from this first event, although in some districts I have already seen promising rows of potatoes, beets and carrots.

The folks of Victoria West are holding their show in St. Saviour's Parish Hall at the corner of Catherine and Henry Streets from 2.30 until 9 p.m.

Roses will be featured in 20 classes, including nine classes for novices who have never won a first prize. An amateur with good rose bushes and careful cultivation has been known to exhibit the "best rose of the show," and surely that should be inducement enough for new exhibitors to come forward with entries.

Other classes listed are sweet pea, pyrethrum, iris (any type), aquilegia (columbine), delphinium, carnation and other dianthus (border pinks), lily (any species) and peony. All these perennials are now in bloom or just commencing to bloom, so that by the end of this week there should be plenty of lovely flowers for this show.

Since this is a one-day affair, entries may be made as late as Friday evening between 7 and 9 at the hall.

Even the children can compete, those 10 years and under to make a flower arrangement in an egg cup, while the 11 to 14 group are asked for one in a teacup.

For an interesting visit see this show. The admission of 50 cents includes refreshments so that a leisurely trip around the exhibits need not be unduly exhausting, even though you may not be an active gardener.

Five-Year Term for Burning His Own Boat

SEATTLE (AP) — William Reed Nelson, 40, who admitted burning the 148-foot wooden fishing vessel Jamene here a year ago to collect $150,000 insurance, was sentenced Monday to five years in federal prison.

Nelson, a Seattle fisherman, told U.S. District Judge John C. Bowen he was trying to salvage a plan to "make a large amount of money in a short time."

TCA Purposely Courting Big Losses---CPA Chief

GRANT McCONACHY

G. W. G. McConachie told delegates at the 22nd annual meeting of the Alberta Chamber of Commerce that TCA's "fantastic" strategy contradicted policy announced in hearings before the Air Transport Board. It was on the basis of these hearings that CPA was awarded a licence to operate one Trans-Canada route in competition with TCA.

66% BOOST

Mr. McConachie said the "stubborn refusal" of TCA to recognize the new government policy of competition and to adjust accordingly was evident in a 66 per cent increase of TCA orders for DC8's and a 20 per cent increase for Vanguard aircraft.

"Apparently they are out to prove the government policy wrong, at whatever cost to the taxpayers," he charged.

The CPA president noted that government boards have jurisdiction over both of the country's major railroads, although one is government-owned, and over the entire television industry in Canada, although the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation also is government-owned.

He urged an air transport board of the same nature, similar to that being established in Britain.

ROCKEFELLER BACKERS URGE 'SILENT VOTE'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Supporters of Nelson Rockefeller started a last-minute campaign Monday on the eve of the California presidential primary urging a "silent vote" against Vice-President Richard Nixon.

Nixon is unopposed on the Republican ballot in today's vote in his bid for the state's 70 votes to the GOP national convention in Chicago in July. But a spokesman for the opposition group said California Republicans still could show their support for Rockefeller by leaving their ballots blank after Nixon's name.

U.S. MOVES FOR CLOSER CONSULTATION

'Togetherness' for NATO

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U.S. moved on two fronts today toward closer consultation with its North Atlantic Treaty Allies.

For the short run, officials here were talking about "the closest possible consultation and co-operation" with NATO countries on immediate cold war strategy.

For the long run, they worked on recommendations for a major NATO study of objectives over the next 10 years.

Three weeks after the summit collapse the need for closer Allied co-operation also was being discussed in France, Canada and other NATO nations.

Canadian Prime Minister John Diefenbaker, who conferred with President Eisenhower last week, proposed a heads-of-state meeting of the 15 NATO members and offered to have it held in Ottawa.

U.S. officials said such a meeting might be useful. But they thought some of the other Allies might prefer less elaborate, lower-level meetings.

Officials here said short-range consultations would take place along two lines:

—Discussion of over-all problems within NATO itself.

—Discussion among United States, Britain and France of "special questions" such as Berlin and problems outside the NATO area.

NEW IMPETUS

The summit collapse gave new impetus to plans for a long-range NATO study of objectives in the fields of politics, defence, science, economics and disarmament.

Such a study was proposed by Secretary of State Christian Herter at the NATO ministerial meeting in Paris last December and was approved by the conference.

HAMILTON PROTESTS INROADS BY U.S. ADS

NEW YORK (CP) — Canadian Postmaster-General William Hamilton said Monday there are "serious reservations" in Canada over the inroads by United States publications into advertising expenditures which would otherwise support Canadian publications.

He described as "invidious" a new technique whereby some American publications print Canadian advertising for their Canadian circulation "in a magazine which is otherwise completely American."

IWA WAGE HIKE SET JUNE 15

VANCOUVER (CP) — The annual wage bill of B.C. coast lumber workers will rise by $5,500,000 June 15.

That's the date that 27,000 members of the International Woodworkers of America (CLC) get their second 10-cents-an-hour wage increase under a two-year agreement signed with the industry last year.

The increase will boost the base rate to $1.92 an hour.

Big Business Claim Denied By Chamber

MONTREAL (CP)—H. Gordon Love, president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, Monday denied a member of Parliament's charge that the chamber is dominated by big business.

Erhart Regier, CCF member for Burnaby-Coquitlam, said in the Commons June 1, small businessmen were being "betrayed" by the chamber and that like the Canadian Manufacturers' Association it was "completely dominated by vested interests—the big outfits".

Mr. Love said the chamber's policies, as presented to the federal government, represent the majority views of the 750 chambers of boards of trade which make up the national chamber.

He said each chamber or board, regardless of size, has one vote at the annual national meeting at which policy is formed and any policy proposal must receive two-thirds of votes cast to be approved.

BUSINESS VIEWS

$725 Experiment Just Misses

By HAL MALONE
Times Business Editor

Victoria Real Estate Board directors tried a $725 experiment last week. It was a good try. But it didn't quite work.

Malone

Directors offered $25 to each member of the board who attended the annual convention of the B.C. Association of Real Estate Boards at Penticton.

The idea: to get as many members as possible to the convention; and, to win the award for the board sending the most members.

Victoria sent 29 agents and salesmen (plus 10 wives). Hence the $725. But the Cariboo board carted home the membership prize, partly because the second phase of the competition involved the distance travelled to the convention site. Said Catherine Godfrey, VREB secretary: "We didn't win. But we were pleased with the turnout.

"Our people have a greater transportation problem than most delegates. We have to get off the Island before undertaking the eight-hour drive from Vancouver to Penticton."

The association represents 56 independent grocery stores on lower Vancouver Island. They own and operate a wholesale grocery warehouse and are justly proud of their progress in the last two years. Volume of sales has jumped from $750,000 to $2,000,000, largely through a sound, strong newspaper advertising campaign in which all members share the cost.

Other officers elected: Doug Hobbs, vice-president; Jack Gibbs, secretary. Directors are Ron Brown, Art White, Frank Collins, Henry Lee, Stuart Pringle, George Wellburn, Paul Wells, Jim Henderson and Frank Hayes of Duncan. Secretary-treasurer is C. S. Yarwood.

TWO SIDES TO THE COIN . . . Despite the drop in the rate of exchange of U.S. coins, the Canadian Tourist Association feels the problem of handling "foreign" money is far from solved . . . CTA points out that several U.S. papers followed up the anti-Canadian stand taken by the Detroit Times. This has led, says CTA, to a flow of critical letters from U.S. residents to the Government Travel Bureau. The more propaganda the more Canada's $300,000,000 tourist revenue stands to suffer, reasons CTA.

CTA researchers say a few Canadian tourist spots are still displaying signs "No U.S. coins accepted" which might as well read "Yankee Go Home." Others, says CTA, are imposing a surcharge over the rate of exchange. To counteract this CTA has undertaken a publicity and educational program.

The objectives are to persuade Canadians to adopt a more hospitable attitude towards Americans this year; to get across the idea that as "salesmen" we can't afford to insult or irritate our "customers," and finally to persuade as many as possible to accept U.S. coins at par up to $1.

Generally these principles are applied here. The few who don't should realize that it takes only a few bad apples to turn the barrel into cider.

Domestic Exports Value Takes Drop

OTTAWA (CP) — Reversing an upward trend in the first three months of the year, Canada's domestic exports in April were valued at $359,900,000, down 8.4 per cent from last year's corresponding total of $393,000,000, the bureau of statistics reported today.

The drop in exports was mainly attributable to a sharp fall in sales to the United States and West Germany.

COPLAND TELLS CMA

Canada, Australia 'Should Show Way'

TORONTO (CP) — Canada and Australia should give leadership in assisting underdeveloped countries, Sir Douglas Copland said today in an address to the Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

Sir Douglas, leader of the Australian trade mission to Canada and principal of the Australian administrative staff college at Canberra, said the partnership of the two countries in existing agencies might well be expanded.

"There is no reason," he said, "why the Western world should not contribute 1 per cent of its national income to under-developed countries."

Sir Douglas commented that Canada and Australia both are young countries with great prospects of expansion and any contributions they might make to the under-developed countries would be to their advantage in expansion of trade.

DISCUSS WORLD TRADE

Sir Douglas spoke at a discussion session on world trade, one of several topics on today's program of the CMA's two-day annual meeting, which closes tonight.

Dr. David McCord Wright, professor of economics, McGill University, said during a discussion of productivity that the problem of increasing productivity is not just one of efficiency, but the far more fundamental problem of inventions.

He stated that today there may be "a considerable exploitation of capital by labor. . .

"The constant pressure of higher money wages upon the price level is being contained to the extent that it is, by a speeded up introduction of labor-saving devices. It is capital's productivity that is really rising."

Montreal Man New CMA Head

TORONTO (CP)—T. R. McLagan of Montreal today was elected president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association. He succeeds W. H. Evans of Toronto.

Mr. McLagan is chairman of Davie Shipbuilding Ltd.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

The United Kingdom took sizeable quantities of flax and some inquiry was made from continental sources. Business estimates ran more than 150,000 bushels.

Flax prices were irregular. Export dealings were slow in domestic barley.

Rye reported an irregular market.

Overnight export loadings of Canadian wheat included United Kingdom 500,000 bushels and Switzerland 40,000.

Lakehead prices for class two, IWA and domestic wheat all were unchanged from Monday.

The market generally was weak although wheat and corn held a few small plus signs on a mixed range in the early afternoon. Rye was off major fractions in spots.

FERRY ACCESS ROAD OPEN JUNE 15

THERE'S NO ESCAPE FOR GEORGE I.

London Rotary Calls Us Victoria, U.S.A.

A trans-Atlantic yelp, all the way from London, indicated today that they're still doing it to George I. Warren.

The former tourist and publicity commissioner of Victoria suffered "the unkindest cut of all" from the heart of Empire, at a London Rotary club.

He was introduced by the president as a visitor from Victoria, "IN THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA."

George gagged, fumed and sputtered.

In an airmail dispatch to The Times today, George reported:

"It afforded me a grand opportunity of getting in a good plug for our city by stating that Victoria had not been annexed by the United States and was the capital of the province of British Columbia and the Garden City of Canada.

"Cheers from the audience. Profuse apologies from the president."

They sat in the Speakers' Gallery in the House of Commons, listening to debates, and attended services in Westminster Abbey.

Already George has encountered two prominent "hometowners" overseas—R. H. B. Ker, a longtime friend from the old Tourist Bureau days, and Premier Bennett, whose dinner "G. I." attended.

Family, Pet Birds Escape Night Blaze

Fire believed started by sparks from a fireplace rubbish blaze crackled through an older house just recently renovated at 2225 Arbutus Monday at 11 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. William Ferriday and their seven-year-old daughter Carolin had retired when Mrs. Ferriday heard a strange noise, got up and saw a light flickering at the back.

It was the whole rear of the house on fire, having caught from the roof and walls where sparks landed from the chimney.

Much of the family's personal property including clothes was destroyed or heavily damaged in the fire.

Saanich Fire Chief Joseph Law said the fire probably had burned for a time unnoticed in the roof and attic before breaking out in the walls and ceilings.

INSURED

House and contents were insured for about $8,000.

The family split up for the rest of the night, Mr. and Mrs. Ferriday sleeping with borrowed bedding in a trailer at the scene and Carolin with a neighbor. A son was at work at the time.

Mrs. Ferriday said the canaries, which were kept in an aviary adjoining, came through the fire unscathed. A parakeet was rescued from the house by Mr. Ferriday.

Florence Fisher, 1227 Pandora, described her assailant as wearing light running shoes and a short, dark coat. He ran in the direction of View Street, she said.

Alfred Montague Gosnell, 102 Bushby, was treated for minor head injury received when the car he drove was in collision with one driven by Catherine E. Horne, 904 Delwood, at Bay and Cook at 6.50.

Grad Party Ends In Police Court

Liquor Offences By Minors

Nine people are charged with liquor and nuisance offences at Colwood in the only reported aftermath of high school graduations last weekend.

Colwood RCMP said between 75 and 100 young people gathered in a huge beach party Saturday night at Albert Head.

Two were charged with creating a disturbance and with being minors in possession of liquor; two adults were charged with drinking in a public place, and five more youths with being minors in possession of liquor.

One of them, John David Horne, 19, of 3060 Donald, was fined $25 and $6.50 costs for creating a disturbance, and $25 and $3 costs for having beer in his possession when he pleaded guilty to charges Monday.

GOES TO JAIL

Magistrate A. I. Thomas imposed jail terms of five days on each charge, consecutive, in default of payment, and police said the youth elected to serve the time.

When police checked the large gathering, many of the youngsters ran off, got in their cars and started to drive away, but police made a check of the highway, resulting in the five charges of minors in possession of liquor.

The liquor in most cases was beer, but several of the youths had pints of hard liquor, police said.

TWO OTHER PARTIES

Two other parties at the same beach, smaller and more orderly, were not disturbed by police.

It was reported that all of the people charged were from Victoria, not Colwood area.

NAMED OUTSTANDING airwoman and airman of the year with the Victoria 2455 Aircraft Control and Warning Squadron, RCAF, are proficiency award winners Rex Collard, 2639 Mount Stephen Avenue. Awards are presented annually on basis of trade skill, appearance and dress, parade attendance and general attitude.

Wengren Rail Hearing Set For June 21

A public hearing was set today for June 21 into plans of the Wenner-Gren Railway to the Yukon.

The Public Utilities Commission set the hearing for 10.30 a.m. in the Vancouver Public Library.

PUC chairman Dr. H. F. Angus said the PNR application, which includes detailed plans, was received today.

JUNE START?

The PNR has officially only until June 30 to start construction under an agreement between the Wenner-Gren interests and the province signed in 1957.

Date of the public hearings make it virtually impossible for the company to meet this deadline.

The entire project will cost more than $250 million according to plans received by Transport Minister Lyle Wick.

Mr. Wicks said Monday the PNR had already spent $1 million on preliminary surveys.

Government members have remained confident the PNR would make the deadline. They have indicated that as far as B.C. is concerned Wenner-Gren has lived up to its agreements.

A syndicate of five firms proposes to build the railway which will run 700 miles to the Yukon border near Atlin. It will connect with the Pacific Great Eastern Railway at Summit Lake.

Timetable Ready For Family Court

Prosecutors for three Greater Victoria municipalities arranged a timetable for the area's new family court in a meeting Monday night.

Judge J. A. Byers, appointed with deputy judge Harold Alder in provincial order in council last Wednesday, said today he is hopeful that the facilities for family court sittings would be available this week.

Meanwhile, there has been no interruption in the function of juvenile courts in Victoria, Oak Bay and Saanich, which fall into the same jurisdiction.

Routine family matters covered by the Wives' and Childrens' Maintenance Act and the Children of Unmarried Parents Act—heard in camera in police court—were delayed when Police Magistrate William Ostler found the order in council had left him without jurisdiction on regular family court day last Friday in the city.

Jurisdiction in these and similar matters was vested in the new court for Victoria, Saanich, Oak Bay and View Royal-Colwood.

Deserted wives and assault cases and similar matters will be at the welfare centre Tuesday afternoons.

Saanich will have alternate Mondays for both juvenile and other family cases, probably at Royal Oak police station, and Colwood will have the Mondays intervening.

Oak Bay "perhaps" will have Friday mornings for family cases, otherwise they may be heard prior to regular police court Friday afternoon, Mr. O'Grady said.

Clerks and stenographers will be the regular court personnel.

PROBATION OFFICER

A probation officer for the new court has been named and is taking specialized training at the probation centre, Vancouver, from which he will return in about a week.

Essentially, apart from separate court rooms, the only difference in the new arrangement is the transfer of jurisdiction to a specific judge.

Imperial Army Veteran Rites

Funeral for Frederick Henry Russell, MM, of the Corps of Commissionaries, a 14-year veteran of the Imperial Army, will be held Wednesday in Sand's chapel at 3.15 p.m.

He died here Saturday aged 73.

Born in Isle of Wight, England, he lived in Edmonton for 30 years where he was attached to the CNR investigation branch, coming to Victoria eight years ago.

Survivors include the widow, Winifred, at the residence, 356 Sylvia Street, and a son and daughter in Edmonton.

RCAF Golden Hawks Stars of Air Show

One, two, and four-plane performances will be packed into 20 minutes of spectacular formation flying at high speeds by seven men of the team in their gold painted Sabre jets.

The annual Air Force Day open house at Comox is expected to be the biggest yet and personnel at the station are already working on static displays illustrating the history and work of the RCAF.

The show will be opened by a flypast of aircraft used by the air force at Comox base including submarine hunting Neptunes, Canso transport aircraft, and the radar guided CF-100 fighters.

Refreshments and restrooms will be provided for the more than 10,000 people expected to visit the station.

A highlight of the show again this year will be the continuous showing of war films old and new. These will comprise first-run commercial movies in addition to service films and captured enemy movies.

ASK The TIMES

Q. Would you please tell me where the nearest consulate of Belgium is? W.N.M.

A. Vancouver. Address of Consul-General Jean Davaux there is 1432 Marine Building.

Q. Please tell me if a family allowance cheque dated April, 1949, can be cashed? L.C.

A. As a cheque with that date is known as a "stale" cheque, it must first be returned to the Family Allowance and Old Age Security Administration (1230 Government, Victoria) for a check of the records. If the cheque has not been cashed, authority will be given to cash it.

Walden, a fine passer, good runner and punter, led Wyoming to a 9-1 season in 1959 and won All-Skyline conference honors.

Canadiens-Hawks In Hockey Trade

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Canadiens today traded Ab McDonald and two farmhands to Chicago Black Hawks for Glen Skov, farmhand Terry Grey an unnamed player and an undisclosed amount of cash.

The deal was made by team officials attending the annual meeting of the National Hockey League and the announcement came two hours before the teams filed protected lists against the draft.

Centre Cec Hoekstru, from Rochester Americans, of the American Hockey League, and defenceman Reg Fleming, of Kingston Frontenacs, of the Eastern Professional Hockey League, went to Chicago, along with left-winger McDonald, a nine-goal sophomore with the Habs last year.

The Winnipeg-born McDonald, 24, is five years younger than Skov, a Wheatley, Ont., product and defensive specialist with 10 years' NHL experience split between the Hawks and Detroit Red Wings.

The Canadiens also obtained options on three players with Chicago's Buffalo American Hockey League farm — Danny Lewicki, Lorne Ferguson and Bob Bailey.

PLANES USED IN SOUTH AFRICA

Mob 'Bombed' With Gas

JOHANNESBURG (AP) — South African police were reported today to be using aircraft and helicopters to drop teargas bombs on a rioting mob of 300 Negroes in Lusikiski area, near the borders of Natal and the Cape Province.

The Johannesburgh Afrikaans afternoon newspaper Die Vanderland, said reports of "serious riots" in the area are reaching Durban but that no official confirmation is available.

The paper quoted its Durban representative as reporting that it was impossible to contact senior police officers about the situation.

The Lusikisiki area has been a hotbed of trouble among the Negroes during the last four months and there have been a number of sporadic riots.

It is in the heart of a predominantly African area—Pondoland — and communications out of there are difficult.

Since February, police are reported to have shot at least seven Negroes and wounded several more when mobs rioted against their ruling chiefs and headmen.

Villages of headmen have been burnt down and at least two headmen killed by rioters.

It is believed the unrest is due to Negroes' resentment of government-appointed authorities who are trying to force changes in traditional methods of agriculture and similar developments.

1,500 Flee Fume-Filled Subway

It raged for 90 minutes while heroic train crewmen and rescue workers led hundreds of smoke-stricken passengers to safety in darkness.

First reports said 60 persons were taken to hospitals with smoke poisoning. Hospital disaster teams treated scores of others at sidewalk first aid stations. No deaths were reported.

The two-alarm fire broke out in a pile of construction lumber one block south of Grand Central terminal at 9.24 a.m. EDT, toward the end of the morning subway jam.

What would have been a minor fire threatened a major disaster with crowded city subway trains speeding in under the streets.

U.S. Urges New Effort On Disarmament Formula

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States, in a note to Russia, urged today that efforts be "redoubled" to find a formula for world disarmament.

The note was a formal reply to Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's disarmament plan calling for immediate scrapping of nuclear weapons delivery systems and elimination of foreign bases.

The U.S. expressed hope Russia would also give "constructive attention" to Western disarmament proposals.

However, the note said one "proper place" to discuss both plans is in the 10-national disarmament conference in Geneva.

"The United States believes that progress in disarmament is of overwhelming importance to the future security of all countries and that efforts must be redoubled to find ways to make a start on the control and balanced reduction of armaments," the note said.

The reply was made directly to Moscow because Khrushchev last week outlined his plan in a letter to President Eisenhower.

"The government of the United States of America will give most careful and serious study to the disarmament proposals," the note said.

After referring to the need for increased efforts toward disarmament the note said: "The United States representative in Geneva will participate in the negotiations in this spirit."

NON-RESIDENT PENSION PLAN WINS APPROVAL

(See Also Page 3)

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons gave final approval today to a government amendment to the Old Age Security Act which will allow pensioners to collect benefits while living outside the country.

Under the amendment, anyone 70 or older may remain outside Canada for unlimited periods and collect the $55-a-month pension provided he has lived in this country 25 years after reaching the age of 21.

The present act allows pensioners to remain out of the country only a maximum of six months without affecting the payments.

Serious Consideration Promised Soviet Plan

GENEVA (CP) — United States delegate Frederick Eaton today promised "lengthy and serious consideration" for the new Soviet disarmament plan presented at the 10-power disarmament conference.

Eaton gave the assurance even before Soviet delegate Valerian Zorin rose to present his country's new three-stage plan in what conference said was "a restrained manner."

The session was adjourned until Wednesday after an hour and 20 minutes.

Zorin said the new Russian plan took into consideration the French views regarding the liquidation of vehicles for nuclear attack by moving this aspect from the third phase of the original plan into the first stage.

PROPOSES JOINT STUDY

The Soviet Union now proposes that "joint studies should be undertaken of the measures for the discontinuance of the manufacture of nuclear, chemical and bacteriological weapons" for implementation in the second stage, he said.

Disarmament of conventional forces and arms had been transferred to the second stage of the Soviet plan, as it was clear that these forces could not play a decisive role by themselves.

Zorin said that in the past the West always had argued at great length about the necessity of controls in any disarmament program. In the new Russian plan the readiness of the Soviet Union to have controls with disarmament has been clearly shown, he said.

Number of Clues Go Unanswered

Although searchers are hoping against hope that Cecil Rawlings is still alive after the plane crash near Nitinat Lake, his disappearance from the crash scene has raised one of the great mysteries of the Island's history.

Still not answered are a number of questions which deepen the problem:

If he lived through the crash was he so dazed he did not realize his whereabouts and simply wandered off?

If not, would he have left the plane without leaving some sort of message or indication which way he intended to go?

If he was injured could he have travelled very far in the dense undergrowth?

If uninjured would he have left the scene without covering up the body of his partner and long-time chum? There was no indication any such attempt was made.

If he had a survival kit surely he would have been able to kindle some kind of fire, even though this would be difficult in the wet, dank growth? He has been missing nine days and none of the searchers have reported any indication of fires, either ashes or smoke.

Does his camera, found 1,200 feet from the crash, hold the all-important clue? It is a 35-millimetre with color film, which has been sent to Toronto for processing in the hope it contains a picture taken at the wreck, thus proving him alive.

What happened to the rubber dinghy and paddle the plane usually carried for fishing purposes? It has not been found at the scene. No one is certain it was aboard.

These are questions which make it still uncertain whether he is dead or alive, despite efforts being made by searchers to follow a trail made by someone.

New Planes Join Extensive Search

Three civilian float planes joined the search this morning to check the west coast and several small lakes and creeks emptying into the ocean.

Conflicting clues still had searchers wondering whether Rawlings survived the crash of the Seabee amphibian which killed his business partner Cecil Rhodes when the aircraft slammed into a forest-covered slope 1½ miles west of Lake Nitinat's northern tip May 29. The men were on a one-day fishing trip.

Helicopter Back

A boat today continued a search of the shores of Nitinat Lake that began Monday afternoon while an RCAF helicopter returned again and again to check the shore lines of nearby Hitchie and Hobiton Lakes.

It carried logger Todd Palliser and Lake Cowichan coroner Dr. Edgar Gee on flights that covered Tsusiat Lake, Hitchie Creek, Squalicum Lake, Carmanah Creek and the Klanawa River in a search of all waterways over an approximate 50-square miles that Rawlings may have followed if alive.

Two other Piper float planes, a Victoria Flying Services aircraft, an RCMP Beaver and an RCAF Otter criss-crossed the search area this morning.

Troops in Search

A company of Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry soldiers from Work Point spread out along the Hobiton-Hitchie Lake area while another company searched the general area of the crash.

Focal point of the ground search was a windfall, about one-quarter of a mile away from the Seabee wreckage, where B.C. Forest Products forester Webb Binion found a camera that belonged to Rawlings.

Erroneous reports of the camera's location sent parties of soldiers on fruitless searches Monday up to four miles away from the wreckage in an effort to pick up more clues.

The searchers raced against time in an effort to find the missing Victorian in case he was still wandering around the rain-soaked tangle of underbrush.

Dr. Gee, modifying a previous statement that Rawlings could not have survived the crash, said:

"It's possible he is still alive, if he hasn't contracted pneumonia. It's not particularly cold in there—about 45 or 50 degrees—but he must have been dazed."

Dr. Gee reported that a logger, Kenneth Cesspard, had found footprints made by soft-soled shoes that were traced to Hobiton Lake and completely around it.

Searchers were told that Rawlings was wearing soft-soled shoes. But Indians live in the area and their tracks have confused ground searchers in the area.

Dr. Gee said the footprints indicated that whoever made them "was going at a good gait and was not disabled."

He said if they were made

TROOPS QUIT HUNT TO START SUMMER CAMP

Army ground search for missing Cecil Rawlings was to continue Wednesday with 50 soldiers, a PPCLI officer said today.

Some 200 men were to be pulled out of the search this afternoon and evening so that they could leave on schedule for normal summer training programs at Wainwright, Alta., the officer said.

Meanwhile, Lake Cowichan fishing guide Joseph Hancock and Moore-Whittington timber cruiser Donald Smith returned to the Seabee wreckage site with Rawlings' hunting dog for a second attempt at finding its master.

M-DAY SNARES 60 BACHELORS

ECAUSSINES, Belgium (Reuters)—Some 60 bachelors bit the dust here Monday.

The local spinsters' guild, sponsors of the annual "matrimonial festival," reported gleefully that about five dozen men had proposed at the festivities during the day. No man was turned down.

This little village was turned into a free matrimonial agency for the day as bachelors poured in form several countries and 500 single Belgian girls moved in on them.

The girls footed the bill for the men's drinks and food. The 60 smitten bachelors paid them back in full measure with promises of life-long love and support.

HEWLETT HOT FOR H-3 IN DRIVE FOR CENTURY

JOHNSON . . . rejuvenated

LONDON (AP)—Dr. Hewlett Johnson, the 86-year-old "Red" dean of Canterbury, told television viewers Monday night he uses a rejuvenation drug, and aims to live to be 100.

He said he used the drug H-3, developed by the Romanian Dr. Anna Aslan, three times a week "with the greatest benefit."

Dr. Aslan lectured the British Medical Association last November on the cases in which she claimed her drug had been successful. But the association's Journal later dismissed her claims saying there was "no real evidence that H-3 is any good at all as a rejuvenation drug."

U.S. BORDER ARREST OF CANADIAN PROTESTED

'Gestapo Tactics' Charged

POINT ROBERTS, Wash. (CP)—Arrest of a Vancouver man by U.S. immigration authorities has touched off a wave of protest by businessmen in this border community 25 miles south of Vancouver.

Faye Wear of Vancouver was arrested and held in jail for two hours last Saturday because he was helping a friend build a summer cottage at this resort centre.

Carl Julius, a spokesman for the Point Roberts Businessmen's Association, said the arrest was reminiscent of Gestapo tactics and that the group likely would protest the action to congressmen.

"We don't want this sort of thing happening to our Canadian friends down here," he said. "Canadians are our whole business."

The incident came to light Monday when Mr. Wear complained of the arrest. He had been working, without charge, to help Jack MacLean of Vancouver construct a summer cabin.

Under the U.S. Immigration Act, no foreigner is allowed to work in the U.S. unless he has a resident visa or is working on his own property.

Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain Or Discomfort

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain And Itching As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain and itching. Thousands have been relieved with this inexpensive substance right in the privacy of their own home without any discomfort or inconvenience.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was promptly relieved. And while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of even 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) — the discovery of a famous scientific institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Heroic subway motormen and conductors, platform personnel, police and firemen led human chains from the stalled trains to safety on smoke-enveloped station platforms at the Grand Central subway station and at 34th Street. From the platforms, the passengers groped their way upward to sunlight and fresh air.

Motorman John J. Crotty said the smoke was so thick in the shuttle tunnel near the terminal that "you couldn't see an inch ahead."

The emergency closed down a 12-mile stretch of subway. Approximately 1,500 persons were trapped in the three-quarter mile section clogged with smoke, some for as long as two and a half hours. Even in trains not reached by smoke, passengers were reported to have fainted from summer heat and lack of air.

Big U.K. Union Splits With Laborite Policy

LONDON (Reuters)—Frank Cousins, most powerful single figure in the British trade union movement, declared open war last week on the defence and nationalization policies of Labor Party leader Hugh Gaitskell.

The head of the 1,300,000-member Transport Workers' Union announced two shocks for the party leadership at a specially-convened press conference:

1. His executive council has decided unanimously that Britain should renounce the H-bomb—at a moment when Cousins, as head of the Transport Workers' Union is sitting on a union-party committee to draft a new joint manifesto on nuclear defence.

2. The executive has voted for retaining the nationalization clause of the Labor Party constitution, which the party recently proposed to modify by saying it did not necessarily favor wholesale state takeover of private industry.

The announcement made it clear the mass vote of Cousins' union will be thrown against official party policy at the annual conferences of both the Labor Party and the Trades Union Congress.

Colwood to Protest Water Rate Increase

Protest against a Greater Victoria water board application to raise rates to rural customers in unorganized territory is planned by Colwood and District Chamber of Commerce.

A. J. Cottyn, chamber president, said some residents are paying triple the rates charged in Vancouver and a further increase is not warranted.

Esquimalt council was scheduled to decide tonight whether it would make a protest to the Public Utilities Commission against a similar application for higher rates sought by city council.

(City council does not have to receive PUC sanction to raise Victoria rates but does need the approval for an increase on the water supplied to Esquimalt residents from the city system. Saanich and Oak Bay have their own distribution systems.)

Mr. Cottyn said that Glen Lake, Colwood and Langford residents also were opposed to the Greater Victoria water board application because the unorganized territory has no representatives on the board.

by Rawlings, it would mean that he was trying to find waterways leading downhill to the west coast.

However, all aircraft flights over creeks and lakes in a westward direction had not picked up any sign of Rawlings up to press time.

RCMP officers involved in the search said they had not received any reports on the footprints.

The troops began an intensive search this morning fanning out from the log where the camera was found some 1,200 feet southwest of the Seabee wreckage.

"They also will search around the wreckage again to see if there is a body in the trees or on the ground in that area," an RCMP officer said.

"But we are still assuming that Rawlings is alive; certainly we hope so and will do everything to find him. We will assume he is alive until we know otherwise."

"RCMP and RCAF aircraft are continuing to ferry more men into nearby Hobiton and Hitchie Lakes and the RCAF helicopter is continuing a low-level search of the lakeshores there.

"There was a boat that searched the shores of Lake Nitinat yesterday and it is going out on another round today."

The officer said that the only evidence pointing towards the possibility that Rawlings survived the crash and tried to find his way out on foot were: the camera, the bed of leaves beside it and some footprints in the area.

Probers on Hand

These may have been carried in the Seabee at the time of the crash but there was no positive verification of the point.

Ground parties also have failed to find any signs of camp fires or other indications that would have been left along a trail by Rawlings.

But RCMP officers said the wet and dense underbrush could have hidden any signs of a man's passage through that terrain.

PARKS WANTED

Conservation Group Seeks Delegates

An invitation to city organizations to appoint delegates to the newly-formed Conservation Council, was made today by Ken McAllister, president of the organization.

Individuals interested in conservation may also join the council, formed primarily for the preservation and acquisition of natural parks and greenbelts.

Interested persons should contact Mr. McAllister or Mrs. Gladys Soulsby, secretary-treasurer.

At an executive meeting Monday, it was decided to seek the assistance of scientists and experts in assessing any project under consideration.

PARKS PROPOSED

Some of the subjects which the council has presently under consideration is a proposal for the dedication as parks of the city-owned Thetis Lake and Beaver-Elk Lake properties. These areas are still classified as watersheds.

The council is also considering a request that Christie Point on Portage Inlet be made into a natural park.

Other subjects under consideration are the curbing or elimination of cars in parks, such as Beacon Hill Park and the retention of cluster lights in downtown Victoria.

Mr. McAllister said the council is not opposed to change and development.

"But we are opposed to a city becoming a slum," he said. "We favor proper planning and development and the wise use of recreational property."

SOVIET PRESS BLASTS DIEF

'Canada, an Exercise Ground for Pentagon'

Izvestia charged "ruling circles" in Canada have "virtually made the country an exercise ground for the Pentagon."

Izvestia was commenting on Diefenbaker's weekend trip to the United States and attacked the prime minister for expressing solidarity with U.S. policy.

"Such a statement cannot but alert peace-loving sections of public opinion," it said.

"The Lockheed U-2 planes are frequent visitors in the Canadian skies. According to the official version of the Canadian authorities, who follow in Washington's wake, these planes collect 'scientific' data about the upper atmosphere and radiation. But even the Canadian press itself does not believe these false reports.

"It is obvious that by taking such a stand, the Canadian government willy nilly assumes a share—and let us say bluntly not a small share—of the responsibility for those provocative actions which the American military are taking using Canada's territory and air space."

VANDERHOOF (CP)—Two Prince George men drowned Sunday when their boat overturned on Nulki Lake, 10 miles south of here.

The mishap was discovered when a farmer spotted the capsized boat and reported it to Vanderhoof RCMP. The two men had been fishing.
